

Macmillan Gains Show of Unity at Cabinet Meeting

Signs Indicate Some Key Ministers Ready to Quit

BY TOM REEDY
LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan rode through the second day of crucial Cabinet meetings over the Profumo scandal today with an outward show of Conservative unity. But signs grew that loyalty of key ministers was near the breaking point.

A 75-minute meeting heightened the tension of the crisis facing the 69-year-old prime minister.

Rumors of resignations by at least four ministers were partly dispelled when two of them issued flat denials. The other two kept their counsel.

The Labor party's "shadow" foreign secretary, Patrick Gordon Walker, returned from a trip to Moscow and declared the vice scandal involving former War Minister John A. Profumo, required the prime minister's resignation.

Labor Makes Attacks

"I think perhaps this is the last service he could do his country," Walker said.

His remarks set the tone for Labor's attack in a full-scale parliamentary debate Monday.

Rumblings from the Cabinet meeting centered on Health Minister Enoch Powell, who steadfastly refused to deny the report he would quit over the moral issue of scandal in the private lives of men in high position.

The Evening Standard said Powell is on the point of resignation, and added this could start a landslide against the prime minister.

Reports spread through Whitehall that other men high in the party councils have been indulging in high life as was the disgraced Profumo.

Macmillan's problem in the face of these rumors was to know if he could again be the victim of a "breath-taking betrayal" as he described Profumo's conduct.

The threats of resignations, the denials, the rumblings even from the rank and file of the party conclave, created an atmosphere of tension and uncertainty as dy-

Johnson Sees Strong Law on Civil Rights

Expects Congress To Pass Measure Asked by Kennedy

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson says President Kennedy will offer an "effective" civil rights bill and Congress will pass it.

"The time has come to close ranks and try to find the solution for this problem," he said Wednesday night.

The Vice President, here to address the General Federation of Women's Clubs, told newsmen in a rare impromptu airport interview that he deplored the violence produced by the tense racial situation. And he said he was sure that responsible Negro leaders shared his view.

He termed the slaying of Mississippi Negro leader Medgar W. Evers "tragic," and commented: "No stone will be left unturned until we find the perpetrator."

Sees Kennedy, Ike Johnson had attended a few hours earlier a meeting of President Kennedy and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower on the civil rights problem. He told women's club delegates Kennedy and Eisenhower "came together because when our country is in trouble, we are all in trouble."

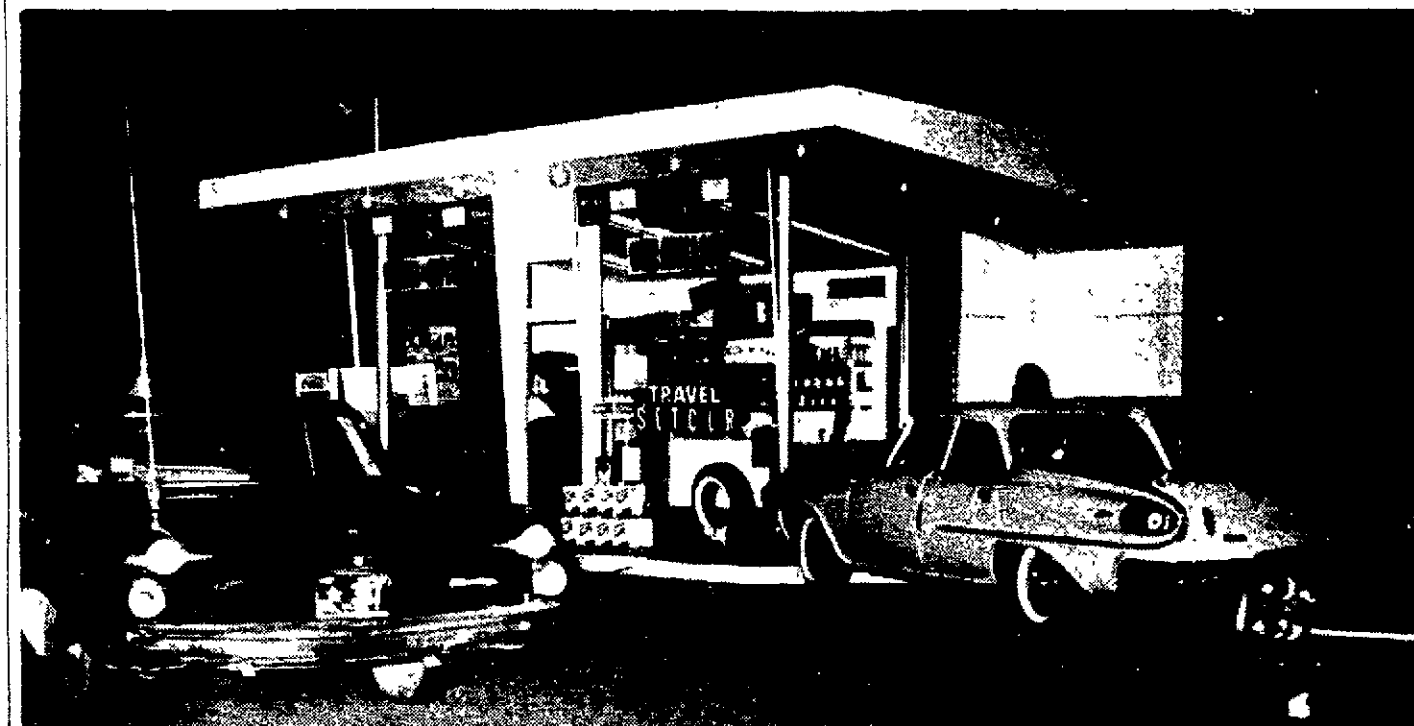

The disenfranchisement of many Negro voters, and the incidents in Birmingham and at the University of Alabama have

Dixie Senators Prepare to Resist Bills on Civil Rights

Robbery Is Believed by Winnebago County authorities to be the motive behind fatal stabbing of Wayne C. Pratt, route 1, Oshkosh, formerly of Neenah, whose body was found by his wife in the rear of his service station on U. S. 41, just east of U. S. 45, Wednesday night. Oshkosh Service Station Operator Stabbed 53 Times in Brutal Murder

Young Wife Discovers Husband's Body Lying in Pool of Blood

OSHKOSH — A young gasoline service station operator was murdered and his station robbed Wednesday night.

Dead is Wayne Pratt, 24, who operated an Enco Service Station on U.S. 41, just north of the U.S. 45 interchange. He had been stabbed 53 times in the back and left side, Winnebago County Coroner Arthur Miller said.

His body was discovered about 9 p.m. by his wife, Marie, who went to the station to see why the overhead illuminating lights in the gasoline pump area had not been turned on.

The couple and their 2-year-old son, Mark, lived in a small house about 50 feet south of the station.

Pratt, a former Neenah resident, was found down in a pool of blood in the rear portion of the station. There were signs of a struggle. County authorities believe the crime was committed before dark.

Coroner Miller said a post-mortem this morning indicated Pratt had been stabbed 53 times in the back, with 12 of the stab wounds penetrating into the lungs, diaphragm and the liver. Both lungs were collapsed.

Miller said there was a scalp laceration but no evidence of a blow to the head. He said he would rule out Pratt being struck before the stabbing.

Counting Receipts

The amount of money taken was not known at this time. Pratt's father, Clarence Pratt, route 2, Neenah, who sometimes helped his son at the station, said the cash register normally would have contained up to $200. Only about $2 in nickels, pennies and dimes remained.

According to authorities, Pratt apparently was standing next to the cash register totaling up the day's sales when his assailant entered. A slip of paper was found next to the cash register with "243" as the last number written, indicating 243 gallons of gasoline had been sold up to that point.

Pratt and his killer apparently went into the back room of the station immediately because there was no sign of a struggle in the front. In the back a battery charger was tipped over and a stack of used tires knocked down before Pratt was overcome.

He was found face down, with the upper portion of his body on a blanket, the type used by furniture movers, and his legs entangled in the tires. His head was toward the door.

station for about 3½ years. The station and his house are the only buildings along the stretch of highway north of the interchange.

Pratt had been at his home, which adjoins the station, watch-

Caracas Reds, Pro-Castroists Face Arrest

Venezuelan Chief Acts After Attempt At Assassination

BY PAUL FINCH

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—President Romulo Betancourt ordered the arrest of Venezuela's estimated 400,000 Communists and pro-Castro extremists Wednesday night following his escape from another assassination attempt.

Betancourt said three Communist terrorists plotted to assassinate him Wednesday with a time bomb at the Roman Catholic archbishop's palace in Ciudad Bolivar, a river port 275 miles south-east of Caracas.

The president told a national radio audience that police nabbed two of the terrorists as they entered the palace with three sticks of dynamite and a timing device. The third plotter got away.

Orders Roundup

"Society cannot be subject to continued risk to property and life by a group of pyromaniacs and terrorists," Betancourt said in ordering Interior Minister Carlos Andres Perez, to start an immediate, nationwide roundup of members of the already-banned

Nation Fears New Violence After Murder

Strong Reaction by Negroes Probable, Southerners Say

BY RELMAN MORIN

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—The grim potentialities for the whole nation in the killing of Medgar W. Evers, highly placed Negro leader, are particularly evident in the South today.

Southerners see the danger of strong Negro reaction setting up a strong counterreaction among the white populace and if that happens, as a Southerner put it, "All hell will break loose."

Evers, Mississippi field secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was shot in the back shortly after midnight Wednesday. He died 50 minutes later.

Negro Drive Spurred

In the aftermath of his death, the outlook for the deeply aggravated struggle over civil rights in the United States appears to be taking these forms.

1. Increased aggressiveness among Negro organizations in the drive for full civil rights.

In numerous major cities, Negro leaders were in meetings. Telephone calls around the nation frequently brought the answer, "He is in conference."

After one such meeting, Arthur L. Johnson, Detroit NAACP official said: "The result of Evers' death will be intensification of the drive of Negroes to achieve what Medgar wanted."

In Los Angeles, Christopher L. Taylor, president of the NAACP chapter there, said "We in Los

Arson Blamed For 2 Fires in Maryland Town

CAMBRIDGE, Md. (AP)—Fires flared in three buildings and a brief fight broke out Wednesday night—the third consecutive night of integration demonstrations in this small Tidewater community.

State police said at least two of the fires had been set deliberately. They broke out shortly after a Negro rally at a church.

In one incident, police said, a burning oil pot was thrown from a car through a window of a grocery in the Negro section of town. The fire was put out before it caused major damage.

Only minutes before, a fire destroyed a shed behind the home of Mrs. Helen Waters, the only Negro member of the Dorchester County School Board. She voted with the majority Monday in turning down an appeal for stepped-up school integration.

A flaming kerosene-soaked mop was shoved through the window of a bakery in the white section of town but only minor damage was reported.

18 Confer At Capital On Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southern senators are girding for an all-out fight against President Kennedy's civil rights measures, particularly a bill their chief spokesman denounced as "a step toward statism."

Eighteen Dixie senators—all of them Democrats except Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex.—canvassed the situation at a closed meeting Wednesday in the wake of President Kennedy's appeal to the nation on civil rights Tuesday night.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., the leader of the group, told newsmen afterward that they are "very bitterly opposed to legislation that would further impinge on the right of private property in this country."

Russell Assails Bill

He was referring to a bill that Kennedy plans to submit to Congress next week to prohibit stores, hotels, restaurants and theaters from discriminating against Negroes.

Russell, denouncing this as "a step toward statism, a socialistic state," said a law of this kind had been invalidated by the Supreme Court in 1875 as an unconstitutional restriction on the use and control of private property.

While Russell directed most of his fire against this measure, he said the Southerners also would battle against empowering the attorney general to bring school desegregation suits.

"Such a vast grant of power no good man should want and no bad man should have," he said.

Criticizes Kennedy

In other developments on the turbulent civil rights scene in Washington:

—Southerners in Congress were reported ready to launch a "slow-down" campaign against Kennedy's legislative program in an effort to hold off a showdown on civil rights legislation.

—The President called in 200 leaders of organized labor to discuss civil rights, the problem now carrying top priority at the White House.

—A House Judiciary subcommittee hears a report on racial violence in Jackson, Miss., from Aaron Henry, Mississippi state president of the National Association for the Advancement of Col-

Indiana Youth Receives 20 Lashes for Setting Fire to Stray Dog

MUNCIE, Ind. (AP)—Twenty lashes with a "Sam Browne" belt were delivered on a 20-year-old gas station attendant in Muncie City Court last night for setting a stray dog afire.

The pants-down thrashing was ordered for the attendant, Franklin D. Campbell of Muncie, who pleaded guilty to a Cruelty to Animals charge and told Judge Walter G. Tanner he poured gasoline over the puppy and lit a match "because he was chasing my chickens."

Earlier this spring Tanner sentenced a teen-ager to 10 lashes for beating his mother.

Besides the licking, Campbell also was sentenced to

- 60 days in jail, 50 of them suspended
- $100 fine, suspended
- Six-mile daily walks after release from jail to the veterinary hospital where the pup is being treated as long as he's there.
- Bury the pup if he dies.

NASA Releases Cooper's Diary

Astronaut Recorded Experiences During His Adventure in Space

BY JOHN FARBOUR

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—As you'd expect of a quiet man thrust suddenly into the focus of the world's eye, Astronaut L. Gordon Cooper Jr. told of his space adventure best to himself and his diary.

That diary — tape recordings he made on his 22 rapid-fire days and nights in space — was released today by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

It is a graphic account of a man alone in his space cabin on what has become the last flight of the pioneer Mercury spacecraft—and probably the last long-term flight of an American for almost two years.

There is no assurance that the transcript is complete. Parts of the transcription were garbled. Parts may have been deleted for security reasons. And once the troubles that endangered the Cooper flight showed up he apparently gave up his private tape recording.

Conspicuous by its absence is any description of the remarkable details Major Cooper said he saw of a truck, a train and other signs of life in the high Himalayas, including part of Red China.

But aside from that, Cooper—in the privacy of his space cabin—seems finally relaxed and alone with the heavens, despite an apparent initial overawareness he was being tape recorded. Let the diary tell it:

"Well (clears throat) first night side and I have a bright blue band. A thick, diffused band of blue color — the sun is spread out very widely. It's settling now. And there it goes. A very bright blue band all the way around the earth."

A minute later, brought back to the reality of weightlessness by a piece of floating debris, he says, "Captured another washer. That's my second one."

With less than an hour in space, Cooper reported to his diary:

Wally (Schirra, a fellow astronaut) was talking about. I can see the stars down in it. And it is — up and around the earth — to a number of degrees. I can see the stars above it. I can see the stars down in it.

"I have seen several lightning flashes on the ground now I see them on the earth now."

"And there is Orion. Betelgeuse. What a beautiful night tonight."

"And there is Orion. Betelgeuse. What a beautiful night tonight."

Sees "Fireflies"

Cooper was constantly pulled out of his soliloquy by radio contact from the ground as he came within range of stations under his flight path. But then he returned to his diary:

"Ha-ha. And now at this time I'm observing John's (Glenn's) fireflies. Drifting away from me. I can observe them, appear to be departing from the spacecraft and drifting out to the

Reynolds and GOP Near Compromise In Fight Over Taxes

Both Sides to Yield Ground But Not Agreed on Terms

BY FRANK CREPEAU
MADISON, AP — Wisconsin's politically divided state government apparently is moving toward its second tax compromise in less than two years despite six months of tough talk from both sides.

With the state moving toward a financial crisis, Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds and Republicans who control both houses of the Legislature now seem willing to adjust their differences.

The terms of settlement have not been agreed. It took the 1961 session an entire year to reach an accommodation between Republicans and Democratic Gov. Gaylord Nelson.

This session marks only the second time Wisconsin voters elected a governor of one party and gave full legislative control to the opposition.

Happened in 1961
It happened in 1961 too and that session produced the first major revision of Wisconsin's tax system in 50 years. The compromise saw Republicans accept an income tax rate increase and a withholding collection system in exchange for a three per cent selective sales tax.

Again in 1962 Wisconsin voters assumed a bitter legislative session by selecting Reynolds governor and retaining GOP majorities in both houses.

Neither side has the political power to impose its will on the other.

Compelling Reasons
Any acceptable tax compromise this session will move Wisconsin clearly into the roster of 22 states which rely on a mixture of sales and income taxes to finance state government in a period of population explosion and its attendant heavy education and welfare costs.

They are compelling reasons for a compromise.

Speculation that higher education, welfare and state agency budgets may be cut 15 to 17 per cent from present appropriations generated a great deal of pressure on both lawmakers and the governor to reach a settlement.

School boards, facing stiff property tax increases if state aids are cut, are not especially enchanted with the arguments tossed back and forth between the governor and the GOP about whether sales taxes are regressive or whether high income tax rates are stifling the economy.

Higher Education
Those responsible for higher education are not so concerned with the argument over sales taxes or income taxes as they are about the enrollment boom.

Both the governor and individual legislators can accept a true compromise as an alternative to a large deficit, curtailed government services and a possible surtax on incomes.

The extraordinary maneuvers of both the Senate and Assembly to keep a compromise bill alive last session indicated the reluctance to plunge the state into fiscal crisis.

In December of 1961 both houses killed the proposal advanced by Nelson and GOP leaders. Then, each house reconsidered its action and passed the bill. Lawmakers had numerous opportunities to cast votes on both sides of the bill.

No Political Harm
It has not been proved that any state lawmaker who supported the 1961 tax compromise was hurt in the eyes of Wisconsin voters. Nelson is now a U.S. senator and it is noteworthy that of 19 Republican assemblymen who voted for the proposal, all were re-elected to new terms.

A compromise also has the built-in advantage of allowing those who participated in the settlement to repudiate the results in the next campaign.

Should a compromise evolve, Reynolds can still blame Republicans for forcing him to accept presidential primary contests, as between the Taft and pro-labor forces here in 1952.

The state committee also promoted Ray Jondahl of Racine, a veteran Republican wheelhorse, to the first vice chairmanship of the organization, and reelected as vice chairman Dorothy Krohn of Oshkosh and Mrs. Emily Baldwin of Wisconsin Rapids. Mrs. Isabelle Grewe of Eau Claire was named secretary and John Hough of Janesville was chosen treasurer.

Education Minister Edward Boyle was a question mark. If all stay in office, Macmillan has gained an important respite in the crisis swirling around the conduct of Profumo, who lied to the House of Commons about his love affair with Miss Christine Keeler. The party girl shared her affections with a Soviet naval attaché. The Conservatives expect Laborite opposition leader Harold Wilson to spearhead the attack. They said Macmillan would take up the cudgels. The Cabinet obviously was dealing with the effects of the scandal on the party's election prospects. Illustrating that, the Cabinet called

The Post Office Department is using this cartoon character, Mr. Zip, to publicize a new code system for mail sorting which will speed delivery of out-of-town mail. The "ZIP Code" (for Zone Improvement Plan), which goes into effect in Appleton and other cities July 1, uses a series of five-digit numbers to channel mail from sender to receiver. The first three numbers represent the postal section and the last two represent the zone or post office. The code for Appleton is 549, followed by two digits to represent one of the five zones served by the Appleton Post Office. The accompanying story gives the boundaries of the Appleton zones.

Post Office Adds New Digit System

Five-Number ZIP-Code Will Speed Up Mail Deliveries

The new, five-digit ZIP - Codes to be used by residents of Appleton were announced today by Postmaster Francis Sumnicht with instructions for proper use of the improved system to speed mail deliveries.

"The three-digit prefix to be used by all mailers of our community — whether they are post office box holders or whether they get home or office mail delivery — is 549," Sumnicht said. To this prefix should be added the two-digit zone numeral 10, 11, 12, 13 or 14 depending on where you receive your mail. Thus your delivery area ZIP-code would be a five digit number.

Those who have Post Office boxes in the main office or who live in the Appleton delivery areas north and west of U. S. 41 will have ZIP-Code 54910, the main office zone.

Those who live in the Appleton mail delivery area south of the Fox River and including the Palisades and Valley Fair areas will use 54911. The south boundary of this zone is just north of, and not including those on Midway Road. The east boundaries are east of Plank Road, Lake Park Road, Railroad Street and Speel Road.

Appleton postal patrons receiving mail at business or home addresses in the downtown area bounded on the south by the Fox River, on the east by Ballard Road, on the north by Wisconsin Avenue (but not including those on Wisconsin Avenue) and on the west by U. S. 41 (those on the highway included) will use 54912.

ZIP-Code area 54913 includes all those on and north of W. Wisconsin Avenue beginning just west of Oneida Street out to and including U. S. 41 on the west. The north boundary is also U. S. 41 inclusive, and the east boundary is Oneida Street (but not including those on Oneida Street).

Homes and businesses on and north of E. Wisconsin Avenue out to the village limits of Little Chute on the east and north to and including U. S. 41 will use 54914. The west boundary of this zone is Oneida Street, including those on both sides of the street.

Postmaster Sumnicht stressed that ZIP-Code goes into effect nationally as of July 1, and urged that all residents of Appleton learn the ZIP-Code that serves them now, and use it in their delivery.

Youth Runs Into Car; Hospitalized for Cuts

James P. Appleton, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene P. Appleton, 240 S. Linda St., Kimberly, has been admitted for treatment at St. Elizabeth Hospital for injuries received when he collided with a car at 1521 S. Memorial Drive Wednesday.

Appleton police said the youth darted from between cars about 3:30 p.m. and ran into the side of a car being driven south on Memorial Drive by Clarence J. Bartman, 30, route 2, Menasha.

The youth was taken to the hospital by Lindy's Ambulance Service. He received a skinned forehead and was treated for shock.

Children's Movie Set at Kimberly

KIMBERLY — The first movie of the summer recreation season, Walt Disney's "African Lion," will be shown at 9:30 a.m. Friday at the high school auditorium, according to Gil Frank, recreation director.

Children planning to participate in summer activities are asked to attend the movie, because the recreation program is to be outlined.

Appleton Night Fair Tickets To Go on Sale

Merchant Groups Admitted at Special Discount

Tickets to "Appleton Night" at the Outagamie County Fair will go on sale Monday to employees of member businesses of three Appleton merchant groups.

Fair representatives will contact members of the Downtown Retail Association, the Northside Advancement Association and the Valley Fair Merchants Association sponsors of the July 11 event.

Employees will be able to buy tickets for themselves, their families and friends at $1 each. The ticket will provide parking, entrance to the fairgrounds and a seat to the grandstand show. Normally, this would cost $2.50.

About 1,500 are expected to participate. Those buying the tickets will travel in a police-escorted motor caravan to the fairgrounds at Seymour.

The caravan will assemble at 5:30 p.m. July 11, in the 500 block of W. College Ave. Cars will carry banners indicating the sponsor stores.

"Appleton Night" is designed to demonstrate Appleton merchants' interest in Seymour and other parts of the county. A group of "goodwill ambassadors" made up of Appleton businessmen will meet with fair officials and Seymour businessmen before the caravan arrives.

Mel Parsons, of the Post-Crescent, is chairman of the "Appleton Night" committee.

PSC Will Hear City Petitions

Crossings Sought For Extension of 2 Appleton Streets

Public hearings will be resumed July 17 by the Wisconsin Public Service Commission on City of Appleton petitions for grade crossings in connection with proposed extension of Washington and Franklin Streets.

The announcement was made at Madison today by Edward T. Kaveny, PSC secretary, after receiving a letter from City Atty. Frederick Froehlich that no progress has been made in railroad crossings negotiations between the city and Chicago and North Western Railway.

In serving notice that only the city's petitions for new grade crossings and signals would be aired at the city hall on July 17, and July 18 if necessary, the PSC in effect failed to set a date on the counter petition of the railroad to have 11 crossings closed.

The action of the PSC was interpreted locally as an Appleton victory in the first round of the drawdown crossing issue. The city wanted a separate hearing on its petitions while the North Western requested that all petitions be considered at one time.

In his notice of resuming the hearing, originally adjourned Nov. 1962, Kaveny noted that, "The city wants these cases heard separately from a petition of the railway to close 11 grade crossings in Appleton."

On June 5 the Appleton Common Council made an official request to the PSC to resume the hearing.

Search Parties Lined up along a road at Chute Lake in Oconto County Wednesday to search for 2-year-old Douglas Cedarblade, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Cedarblade, Green Bay. The child, who disappeared from a nearby YMCA camp Tuesday evening, was found dead in a swamp about 2:15 p.m. Wednesday. (AP Wirephoto) (photo)

Long Ordeal Ends in Tragedy For Parents of Young Child

Tot, 2, Found in 3 Inches of Water Near YMCA Camp Wilderness

By RAY PAGEL

MOUNTAIN — Word had just come to Camp U-Nah-Li-Yah headquarters from a search party in thick woods a mile and a half away.

Now they waited in silence as the car returned from a mission in the opposite direction. The driver halted, and you could see in his eyes the sleepless ordeal and anxiety of the past 20 hours. "Anything?" he asked.

The answer was in the grim faces of those who stood there. A solemn nod came from George F. Murray, General Secretary of the Green Bay YMCA.

"No, Dewey" "Is he...living?" "No, Dewey," replied Murray, sadly, gently.

So ended for Dewey Cedarblade, at not quite 2:30 p.m. Wednesday, the search for his lively, fun-loving son of two years, Douglas, exhausted, doubtless bewildered and frightened, had drowned face down in a swampy area in three inches of water.

Lynn Cedarblade, the child's mother, heard the tragic confirmation of her fears a moment after her husband.

Douglas had disappeared from the Green Bay YMCA camp where his father is director, at about 5:45 Tuesday p.m.

Bright Red Shirt His body, in a bright-red-sweat-shirt, was spotted by Guy Erb Jr., a Suring High School student, at about 2:15 p.m. Wednesday afternoon.

Erb was among the many volunteers joining Oconto County authorities and members of the camp staff in the search.

Camp U-Nah-Li-Ya, owned by the Green Bay YMCA, is on Chute Lake, about three miles off State 32 and some eight miles south of here.

Follow Bloodhounds Through all the night, and all Wednesday morning, the search went on. Groups of 20 and 30, each with a leader, were assigned to specific sections of the camp property and the adjoining Nicolet National Forest. Others were directed to assist the four skin divers who had come from White Lake.

Some followed four bloodhounds with their handlers.

"We haven't found a thing — not the least bit of a sign," was the report at noon from Edward Coopman, sheriff of Oconto County.

Coopman asked his aids to contact as many of the searchers as possible.

Reorganize Search "We're going to reorganize," the sheriff said.

About a hundred persons, women as well as men, gathered at the waterfront below the camp dining hall. Coopman and the Turn to Page 3, Col. 1

Police Get New Supplies; Also Kidding

Appleton police came in for some good-natured lampooning Tuesday night.

It came when the common council's public safety committee authorized unusual purchases, to wit.

Sixty-four sets of handcuffs and cases at a cost of $617.

Twenty-four genuine leather Sam Brown belts for $189, with the understanding that each size over a 44 would cost 75 cents extra.

"Those boys on the department over a size 44 should be made to pay the 75 cents as a penalty," quipped a somewhat trail-looking alderman.

"Better yet, let's suggest a few 50-mile hikes," commented another, who later puffed as he hurried to his car.

The crowning comment came after another city official added up the cost of the items $806 and observed, "It hardly pays to catch the crooks anymore."

Money for the belts and handcuffs, long-needed by the police department, was included in the 1963 budget by the council.

At present, police have but six pairs of old handcuffs that have to be traded back and forth between the men.

In other action, the committee recommended purchase of two handy-talkie radios from Motorola, the low bidder, for $1,051. They will be used by the fire department, replacing two old units.

Authorization was also given the fire department to have Bertram Body Co., Marion, repaint a fire truck—the color will be Roman red—for $900.

Fire Chief Roland Kuehn informed the committee that the city's insurance carrier has indicated the City of Appleton would be covered under its liability policy in the event of an accident while the fire department is on a run outside of the city.

Child's Tragic Death Silences Campground

MOUNTAIN — The strange and tragic odyssey of Douglas Cedarblade is over.

Because it is over, a thick, brown gatepost, chained and locked at both ends, bars the entrance to Camp U-Nah-Li-Ya today.

No one will ever know for sure what it was the two-year-old boy was seeking when he wandered away from the YMCA camp here Tuesday. Only one thing is certain: he found death in a shallow, water-soaked, ditch near Anderson Lake about a mile or so from his home at the camp where his father was the director.

They say here now, the youngster may have been looking for his father, Dewey, who had left with some campers on a cook-out.

Or, it may be the like simply wanted to see for himself the great woods which ringed his summer home.

Whatever the reason, he walked where few men have walked before in an incredibly thick wilderness where even a berry bush would seem tall to a two-year old. But because he

Surprise Guilty of Reckless Conduct In Death of Son

12-Member Jury Unanimous in Judgment; Sentencing Delayed

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Gary P. Surprise, 22, route 1, Kaukauna, was found guilty late Wednesday of reckless conduct in the death of his son, four-month-old Scott, by a 12-man jury which heard two days of testimony in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

While Surprise's wife, Bonnie, 19, who has broken down twice during the hearing, wept softly behind him, Surprise stood before County Judge Gustave Keller after the jury's verdict and heard Judge Keller order a pre-sentence investigation and set sentencing for June 28. Surprise's $5,000 bond was continued and he was allowed to leave the courtroom.

The jury of seven women and five men deliberated about one hour and 15 minutes before arriving at a unanimous decision about 5:15 p.m. Testimony closed at 2:30 p.m. and summaries by Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer and defense counsel John Wylie and jury instructions took until 4 p.m.

Motion Denied

A motion by Wylie not to allow transcripts, a signed statement by Surprise taken by Sheriff Lt. Jack Zuelzke, colored photographs showing the dead baby's bruises and colored slides to be taken into the jury room was denied in part by Judge Keller.

Judge Keller ruled the inquest transcript which contained some information not relative to the trial be excluded from the jury room. The other exhibits were taken by the jury for deliberation.

Wylie said today he was not considering an appeal at the present time. An appeal on the conviction would have to be made to State Supreme Court.

Surprise took the stand early Wednesday and related events on the night of Feb. 14 and the morning of Feb. 15 when his child died. He told the court he was babysitting with his child Feb. 14 when the baby became severely ill. He said the baby's breathing became labored and he became scared. His wife, Bonnie, was not at home when the child became sick, Surprise said, but came home about 11 p.m.

Parents Prayed

The child was taken to the Kaukauna Community Hospital, examined by a doctor and admitted for treatment. The parents returned home where, according

Creation of Inspector Post Is Recommended

A recommendation was made Wednesday that the position of inspector (assistant chief) for the Appleton Police Department be created by the common council.

Meeting at city hall, the council's personnel committee also recommended creating two additional captaincy classifications requested by Police Chief Earl O. Wolff.

However, the three new classifications will not be added to the department's administrative structure until 1964. The new positions will be considered at budget hearings this fall.

At least two council committees have concurred in Wolff's recommendations, including the immediate addition of two men to the detective bureau.

to testimony, they prayed and said the rosary

The following day, Surprise said, he was asked to come to the hospital where he was told his child had died of head injuries. He was taken to the autopsy room where he saw the baby's body. He said at that time he noted bruises on the baby's face, but they did not appear at that time to be as big or pronounced as bruises shown on colored slides and photographs submitted as state exhibits.

Surprise testified that he was confused, tired and edgy when he made a statement in Schaefer's office following an inquest Feb. 15. He said he "skipped over" the statement and did not read the entire 20 pages when he was asked to put his signature on the paper 12 days later. He said he thought that by signing the statement, "the matter would be taken care of."

Loving Father

Testimony from three other witnesses, Mrs. Virginia Braun, 327 W. Sixth St., Surprise's mother-in-law, Mrs. Judy Leach, route 4, Appleton, his sister, and Mrs. Maria Otrabec, route 1, Kaukauna, the Surprise's neighbors, indicated they had observed Surprise care for the child and had never seen him harm Scott. They all testified they were aware that the child bruised easily. All agreed in testimony that Surprise appeared to be a loving father.

Mrs. Otrabec was present in the Surprise home just before the child was taken to the hospital Feb. 14. She said she saw the child in a semi-conscious condition and attempted to arouse him by patting his cheek and waving his arms.

She said she had cared for him earlier in the day and the child appeared then to be "unusually quiet" and did not play or laugh as he usually did. She said she saw bruises on the baby's face when she saw the child Feb. 14, but had seen similar bruises on the child off and on for about one month previous.

Appleton Man Presides Over ECO Meeting

L. E. Pasek, 120 N. Green Bay St., president of the Effective Citizens' Organization, presided at ECO's annual meeting and luncheon Wednesday in Washington, D.C.

ECO, organized as a non-partisan group 10 years ago through the instigation of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, then president of the United States, honored Eisenhower at the luncheon. A silver tray inscribed with his quotation "Politics ought to be the part-time profession of every citizen who would protect the rights and privileges of free people," was presented to Eisenhower. It was his statement that provided the inspiration for the formation of the Effective Citizens Organization.

Pasek was chairman of the morning session at which speakers included the chairman of both national party committees and Robert F. Kennedy, attorney general of the United States.

Kimberly Principal To Meet With Parents On Student Programs

KIMBERLY — Parents of students entering Kimberly Public School as ninth graders this fall who have questions concerning students course of study can contact James Koehn, principal of the junior high school, for individual conferences.

Koehn said he would be unable to meet with all parents concerning programming, so they are to check with their youngsters and interviews can be arranged if questions arise or changes are deemed necessary.

Kimberly Homes Are Damaged by Vandals

KIMBERLY — Vandals broke a window in a home and damaged siding on another home about 11 p.m. Tuesday by throwing large rocks from atop the Kimberly High School gym at homes on the opposite side of the street.

Harold Wentzel, 140 S. Main St., reported a front window broken about 11 p.m., and shortly later police received a call from Henry Kinderen about someone throwing rocks against his home at 128 S. Main St. Police checked atop and around the school, but failed to find the vandals.

Police Investigate Theft of Boat

KAUKAUNA — William Jaki, 616 W. Eighth St., reported to police the theft of a 13-foot flat-bottom boat from the Fox River below Brill Street sometime between Saturday evening and Monday afternoon.

The owner estimated value of the boat at $25.

Winnebago County Coroner Arthur Miller examines the place where the body of Wayne C. Pratt was found at the rear room of his service station. Pratt was stabbed in the back and side about 80 times Wednesday night. He was found face down with his head on the blanket at the left and his feet in the tires behind the coroner at the right. boy's father — everybody calls him Dewey, though his name is Duane — consulted a detailed map and marked off good-sized sections.

Fanned out in a long line, the searchers about 15 feet apart, the party skirted the lagoon on the camp property. They crossed the blacktop town road and trudged through the dense woods parallel to the road back toward State 32.

Check Everything

"Look under every log, behind every tree. Walk straight ahead, and don't miss a thing," the searchers were instructed.

The thorough check of the woods paid off a mile and a half from the starting point.

"I was walking next to young Erb when he let out a yell," said Robert Schnitzler, building superintendent at the Green Bay YMCA. He had been in the hunt since 8 a.m.

"I couldn't have seen the boy from my position, the brush was so thick," Schnitzler stated.

He took off his jacket, worn as protection from the mosquitoes and woodticks, and covered the boy's body. Douglas apparently had walked about 10 feet along a log, slipped off and fallen face down in a shallow pool of water.

"The poor little fellow was all worn out," one of the searchers said. "He simply went to sleep."

The death of 2-year-old Douglas was the first such tragedy at U-Nah-Li-Ya since the camp opened in 1937. Several years ago a maintenance man died as the result of a heart attack while helping to ready the camp for summer opening.

Douglas had been out of his mother's sight for only two minutes when she discovered him missing.

No Telephone

His father and some 20 members of the staff had set off for a cookout at about 5 p.m. Tuesday. With him was his 5-year-old son, Frank. His wife remained at camp with Douglas and their youngest child, David, six months.

There is no telephone at the camp. The sheriff's office was called from a neighbor's home more than a mile away.

Sheriff Coopman ordered an immediate search.

The bloodhounds appeared to pick up the boy's scent several times, but soon lost it. Men experienced with dogs said that young children leave little scent, and dogs have difficulty following them.

The skin divers explored the waterfront and the lagoon. They said at noon that they were quite confident that Douglas had not fallen into the water.

Take Care of Children

Other women appeared with the men with offers of help. Helen Maloney, night clerk at the YMCA in Green Bay, left the desk at 7 a.m. Wednesday. She immediately left for the camp and cared for little David while his mother took part in the search.

Mrs. Audrey Locke, mother of four youngsters at Mountain, arrived and took young Frank in hand. Shortly after noon a reporter drove her and Frank to Mountain, where Frank remained with the Lockes until he was taken back to Green Bay.

Murray called a meeting of the camp staff late Wednesday afternoon.

"This is a tragic thing," he told the young men and women, "but Dewey and Lynn want you to carry on with your work."

Wants to Return

Murray announced that Bill Kroll, assistant camp director, would be temporarily in charge. He said Cedarblade had expressed a desire to return to camp kethall. He will enter Wisconsin State College, Stevens Point, this fall to major in conservation biology being established in the little boy's name, Murray said.

The Inside of the Pro shop at Fox Valley Golf Club was turned upside-down during a break-in Monday night. A preliminary check showed nothing missing, but golf balls, clubs and other equipment were taken from a showcase and wall racks and scattered about the shop, ash trays were tipped over, and record files were rifled and materials scattered. A small metal tool box was taken from the building and the tools were used to dig up the No. 9 green near the pro shop. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Appleton Police Check Two Crashes at Same Intersection

Appleton police were called to two accidents involving one car, Prospect Avenue and Oneida Street twice within an hour to investigate two accidents this morning.

One man was injured in the second accident involving a car.

Census Bureau to Check Employment Trends

Fox Cities residents will help determine national trends in employment and unemployment when they answer questions in the Census Bureau's Current Population Survey during the week of June 17.

Families interviewed in the survey and in the 356 other sample areas in the country are chosen to provide representation in the sample for all types of areas and all major groups of the nation's population. They are selected by address rather than by name, and the information they contribute to the survey remains confidential in the Census Bureau's records. Only statistical totals are published.

Taking the census will be Sigurd Dahlen, Dalton, Minn.

His car crossed the road and collided with a high stone wall. The wall was damaged and stones were moved off the foundation, police said. Wagg was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital by Lindy's Ambulance Service. He has been admitted for treatment.

Earlier, cars driven by Mrs. Gerald Katz, 46 West Court, and Donald A. Abraham, 32, route 3, New London, collided. No one was injured.

The accident occurred when Mrs. Katz was turning left onto Prospect from Oneida Street and the Abraham vehicle was traveling south on S. Oneida Street.

Deny Proposal To Relocate Water Tower

Water Commission Opposes Extension Of Washington St.

For the second time in six months the Appleton Water Commission has rejected a proposal by Ald. Al Stoegbauer (4th) to relocate the water tower at Washington and Walnut Streets across the railroad tracks.

Stoegbauer first suggested the relocation, which he contends would tie in with the eventual extension of Washington Street, in October, 1962.

The water commission said it opposed having the street extended to the south of the Chicago and North Western tracks and would rather have the roadway to the north side.

The tank is about 50 years old and once dismantled could not be put to any further use, according to water department engineers. Long-range plans are eventually to remove the tower and erect a new facility at a site near the outlying area of the city.

With reference to the resolution introduced in the common council by Stoegbauer, the commission said:

"The cost of moving the present tank would be prohibitive and on account of its age would not be an economical thing to do at this time. Further, if a new tank has to be built it is questionable if it would be located in the present location."

The commission said its policy is to locate tanks in the more outlying areas of the city.

Presently, a new tank is under construction on the city's far-northwest side, and another is being planned for the southeast side.

3 Prisoners Are Back In Custody

BEAVER DAM (AP) — Three men who fled a warehouse of the state prison at Waupun Tuesday are back in custody.

Robert Albasini, 38, and Earl Jackson, 25, were apprehended early today in Beaver Dam.

Pete Decora, 27, was picked up by Waupun police Wednesday night.

Aubrey Nichols, 39, who fled while on chauffeur duty in Madison Tuesday, is still at large.

Albasini and Jackson were spotted on a road north of Beaver Dam by a prison guard returning from work. As he picked them up, a passing truck driver also identified the men and drove construction on the city's far-northwest side, and another is being planned for the southeast side.

Fox Cities Man Among 7 New St. Norbert Faculty

DE PERE — The names of seven new faculty members at St. Norbert College for the 1963-64 school year have been announced by the Very Rev. D. M. Burke, O. Praem., college president.

The new members, all laymen, include Dr. Victor L. Albjerg, his department; Dr. Thomas A. Davidson, Jr., English department; Dr. Jere Phillips Wilson, psychology department; Dr. Edward J. Williams, chemistry department; Robert P. Kramer, business administration department; and Suzanne Gross, pool-in-residence.

Also added to the faculty is Eugene G. Bunker, who will be a staff librarian. Prior to his present position as head librarian at Rockhurst College, Kansas City, Mo., Bunker was librarian at the Institute of Paper Chemistry in Appleton. He is a native of the Fox Cities and has a master of science degree from the University of Wisconsin.

Addition of these faculty members brings to nine the number of new teachers named for the business administration department in 1963-64 year at St. Norbert.

U. S. Restaurants Make Traveling a Pleasure

BY HAL BOYLE

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—My country's restaurants, 'tis of thee I sing.
Today you're making life a pleasure for the weary, wayworn traveler.
Remember when it was said there were only three cities in the United States where a man could get a decent meal — New York, New Orleans and San Francisco? Remember when ketchup was the all-American food, because it was used from coast to coast to cover up culinary horrors? It was the only thing that tasted the same everywhere—but it took a strong man to shake it out of the bottle.

Only a generation ago the well-equipped motoring tourist needed a stomach pump as much as a tire pump. He didn't need to climb a mountain to find adventure. All he had to do was stop at a roadside Bide-a-Wee or Dew Drop Inn—and order the blue plate special.

Own Ways
A gastronomic map of America would have shown it to consist largely of a vast desert where the natives took revenge on passing strangers by insisting that they partake of local grub.

Each region had developed its own way of ruining good food.
In New England they boiled a piece of meat until it disintegrated. In the South they tossed it into a kettle of boiling lard until it gave up and sank. In the West and Southwest they fried it until, interested in good food," William Allen White once said.

If the culture of a country is measured by the quality of its food, America is on the upbeat in this respect. More and more of our people know what good food is, enjoy it, and demand it.
The "Greasy Joe" type of place, run by a guy in a dirty apron, is on the way out. In practically every community of any size across our broad land there are restaurants now where a man can belly-up the fine, well-cooked, tasty meals of endless variety that are an ecstasy of the palate and a joy to the soul.

How can you tell a good restaurant? My test is tea. There is only one way to make good tea. With boiling water. If the waitress brings you tea lukewarm as a loan shark's handshake, get up and flee that place as if it had a hex on it.
Remember, the stomach you save will be your own.

U.S. Government Uses More People Than Our 10 Largest Companies

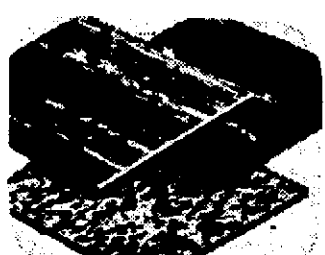

BY ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON (AP) — In its size, diversity and complexity, nothing can match the vast federal government. Its 2.5 million civilian employees would fill sprawling Los Angeles, It hires more people than the nation's 10 largest industrial companies combined. To keep pace with the turnover requires 300,000 new employees a year, almost equal to the population of Wyoming. Yet the government's size, staggering as it is, is far easier to comprehend than its diversity and complexity.

Most of us still think of government work as typing or totting the mail. We could not be more wrong. The government — that is, we taxpayers — hires more engineers than it does clerk-typists. Government laboratories and installations are staffed by 165,000 scientists, engineers and technicians. As for the inventor, that once lonely tinkerer in garage or attic, well, the government has so many the Civil Service Journal needed two issues to discuss them. Only a Civil Service expert could know that the government employs: 27 nematologists, who puzzle over parasites; 35 mycologists, who study fungi; 228 specialists in geodesy, who fret about gravitational pull and the earth's curves while measuring vast areas; 123 cadastral surveyors, who get boundaries properly bounded; and 2 psychodramatists, who work on skits designed to help mental patients face real life situations. Automation has hit government, involved in digital computer systems administration. These are not to be confused with the 413 in peripheral computer equipment operation. But most jobs aren't difficult to understand. The government needs and hires everything from beauticians to glassblowers to funeral directors. To make sure the money rolls in to pay for these and other services—the civilian payroll is a tremendous $1,295,000,000 a month.

Thurs., June 13, 1963 Appleton Post-Crescent B3
We employ 10,946 watchful internal revenue agents. Starting with George Washington, this government picked its what the future holds. Let's look at what it is and how we got where we are and guess at what the future holds. In 1784 the U.S. Army consisted of 80 privates, commanded by Capt. John Doughty. Now the armed forces have 2,701,335 in uniform, including 334,826 officers. When James Madison was secretary of state, his department had nine men, including a messenger. The State Department now has 41,091 employees. Starting with George Washington, this government picked its workers with some regard for merit. But with Andrew Jackson a great change came, which was summed up in a speech by Sen. William Learned Marcy. On Jan. 21, 1832, Marcy told the Senate: "To the victor belong the spoils." And so, to the discredit of the nation, they did. The White House became a disorderly employment agency.

Church of Christ Church of Christ Leaders Asked Opens Conclave To Set Patterns for Future Years In Appleton

State President Speaks to Delegates
At First Convention

"Preparations for the covenanting together of the United Church of Christ in Wisconsin have been fermenting and yeasting for more than two decades," declared the conference president of the Wisconsin Conference of the United Church of Christ in Appleton Tuesday.

Speaking at the opening session of the first annual meeting of the Wisconsin Conference, the Rev. Dr. Clarence F. McCall, Madison, pointed out that "we have been marching into the promised land since the first of the year. We are in business, our Father's business, at long last."

"It took a quarter century, a generation of Christian devotion, to effect the conditions which we inherit as the United Church of Christ from those who went before," said Dr. McCall.

"In the Wilderness"
"The United Church of Christ is a union of the Evangelical and Reformed Church and Congregational Christian churches."

"We are now vulnerable, exposed, venturing into the untried," Dr. McCall continued. "We have left our mountains. We are in the wilderness where only total faith in God, and utmost goodwill can bring us to the fulfillment of our covenanting together."

"Our confidence in the years ahead is to no small degree predicted on the evidence that the more one is involved in its doings the more he becomes committed to the United Church," he said.

Mission to People
"We cannot side-step the need of the church to Christianize itself, with a mission to its own people and a simultaneous mission by them to all people," he continued.

"Christianity without Christian content will never convert the culture," Dr. McCall pointed out. "In this context the teaching ministry of the church will be greatly implemented through the new United Church curriculum. A goal for our Conference life should be 'every church member either learning or teaching the new curriculum.'"

"The corollary of ministering to the intellectual is the mission to the unsophisticated people who crowd increasingly into the inner city areas in half a dozen of our population centers, most especially Madison and Milwaukee," he continued. "In the inner city, outer city and suburb, Milwaukee the 10th largest city of America is in flux and convulsion. We had better do something in the next few years as the new patterns of city and suburb come into clear outline. After that it will be too late."

Caught in Transition
"Our town and country churches are caught in transition almost as drastic as their city sisters," he warned. "There must be a well-rounded concern for all our churches — town, city, suburb. To neglect any of these or to let an imbalance motivate us is to cripple the total ministry of the Conference. Even the resolute facing of problems in town and country city, race, suburb, benevolent corporation, college and seminary — all these remain self-gratifying busywork unless they are subordinated to our Christian world mission," said Dr. McCall. "We, as a Conference, exist, in my opinion, for one purpose, to become in totality the mission of Christ."

"The cost of privation and pilgrimage is little enough to sacrifice for our Lord," Dr. McCall said, "as we push towards the Promised Land of His kingdom on earth."

Family of 20 to Be Formed by June Marriage

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A family of 20 will be formed by the marriage June 22 of Howard L. Landry, 42, a widower who is the father of eight, and Mrs. Eliza Beth M. Garms, 35, the widowed mother of 10.

Children in the combined family will include 11 boys and seven girls, none over 15. Besides Mrs. Garms' 4-year-old twins, there will be five other pairs the same age—13, 12, 10, 8 and 5.

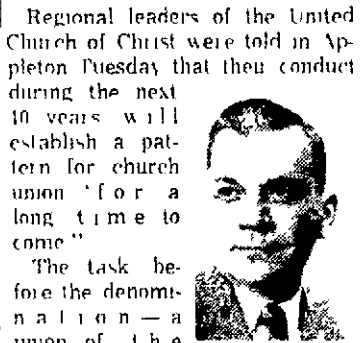

Landry is the manager of a service station. His wife Mary died in March 1962. Mrs. Garms' husband, Rodney, died last December.

Mrs. Garms said Wednesday the couple planned to have only the immediate families at the wedding, scheduled for St. Philip Neri Roman Catholic Church.

Mrs. Garms' oldest daughter, Linda, 15, and Landry's oldest son, John, 14, will serve as attendants.

Mrs. Garms said she didn't want to draw any attention to the wedding because "we will have enough problems to just handle the children." After the marriage the family will live in Landry's home.

Over 600 Ministers, Delegates Attend
First Annual Conference in Appleton

Dr. Daniels, a member of the executive council of the United Church of Christ, spoke at the opening session of the first annual meeting of the Wisconsin Conference of the United Church of Christ in Appleton Tuesday.

Regional leaders of the United Church of Christ were told in Appleton Tuesday that they conduct during the next 10 years will establish a pattern for church union "for a long time to come."

The task before the denomination—a union of the Evangelical and Reformed Church and Congregational Christian churches—is one of the major challenges facing the world Protestantism declared the Rev. Dr. Gibson J. Daniels, minister of the Saukage Congregational Church, United Church of Christ, Westport, Conn.

Dr. Daniels, a member of the executive council of the United Church of Christ, spoke at the opening session of the first annual meeting of the Wisconsin Conference of the United Church of Christ in Appleton Tuesday.

He told the group that they can not effectively meet the challenge that confronts them without vision. The vision needed is the importance of learning "how to make a contribution to the world which contains so many appointed for progress and so many invitations to disaster."

Warning against the retarding effects of "useless controversy and dispute," Dr. Daniels stressed that the importance of learning "how to make a contribution to the world which contains so many appointed for progress and so many invitations to disaster."

Chief Plans Better Arson Investigations

Kuehni Alerts His Men to Preserve Evidence at Fires

A "beefing-up" of possible arson investigations in Appleton has been announced by Fire Chief Roland Kuehni.

Kuehni said he is instructing his personnel to be extra alert for evidence which may be important in helping determine the cause of fires. Kuehni said too often in an attempt to put a fire out in the least amount of time, important evidence may become lost or overlooked.

Kuehni and Asst. Fire Chief Harold Kraemer attended a fire arson seminar in Madison on the weekend and plan to incorporate several "new ideas" in the Appleton fire investigation program.

No immediate new inspectors are planned, Kuehni said. The department now has four inspectors whose job it is to determine causes of fire. He said, however, each and every member of the department will be taught to be an "informal" investigator at each fire he attends.

"Speakers at the seminar indicated that it is too easy to write-off arson," Kraemer said, "and that many arsonists escape detection because of a failure to investigate a fire thoroughly."

Kuehni said Appleton investigations are handled through Deputy Fire Marshal Earl Schwabe's office. In the future, Schwabe, the local investigators and local police will be used in the investigations.

Kuehni said that if arrests are to be made, they will be made through the Appleton Police Department. Firemen have no arrest powers.

Future investigations by the Appleton Fire Department may include information such as how the fire was detected, what the building was being used for, how effective fire brigades and other emergency equipment was in fighting the fire, the business and personal backgrounds of the property owners and what human error may have been a factor in the start of the fire.

First Peace Corps Unit Ready To Complete Tour in Ghana

BY DENNIS NEELD

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — Forty-eight young Americans are getting final medical checkups before winding up their two-year Peace Corps assignment to Ghana.

Ghana was the first nation to request Peace Corps volunteers from the United States. Fifty-one applicants, all teachers, were selected, went through a period of training and landed here on Aug. 28, 1961, just in time for the beginning of the school year. All but three of these are about to become the Peace Corps' first honorably discharged veterans.

They have suffered disappointments and frustrations. They have met and overcome many unexpected difficulties. Often their work proved less exciting, less romantic than they envisaged.

They have been accused by a Ghana newspaper of spying.

But few, if any, regret the time and toil they have devoted to this work. Without them, the young West African republic would be a different place.

They will go back to the United States next month wiser, tougher and keenly aware of African and world problems.

And Ghana has benefited from their work. Without them, the country's ambitious education program could have been jeopardized for lack of graduate teachers.

Good Start

Three days after the first volunteers arrived here, two of them won second prize in a high life contest at a popular Accra night spot.

The shuffling, rhythmic high life is a dance popular throughout West Africa and the American secondary schools all over Ghana. Bearded Robert Klein of West Hempstead, N.Y. taught at incidents in the states and of at the University of California.

That got them off to a good start and it was typical of their desire to take an active part in the life and culture of the country.

Of the original volunteers, one couple got married and left when the road back to Accra. Newell the girl was expecting a baby. Another girl left the corps after marrying an Englishman in Michigan, taught there. Before they leave they are putting on the musical "The King and I" with Margot playing Anna and a Ghanaian student playing the king.

Lack of any immediate demonstration of gratitude by the Ghanaians worries some volunteers. President Kwame Nkrumah has never expressed any appreciation of their work. There have been outright attacks.

"We often get asked about race incidents in the states and of school—Sefwi Wiawso Secondary—in the heart of the African rain forest. It was a new school and when Klein joined the staff it had precisely three students.

"The authorities beat the bush to recruit students and today we have 100 boys and 20 girls," he says.

Tactician George Coyne, 31, of Plainfield, N.J., taught in the secondary school at Sunyani.

"I've had a pretty easy life up till now and the Peace Corps provided me the chance to give something back," said Coyne.

Peterson to Direct '64 GOP Campaign

Appleton Executive's Election Surprise to Some Politicians; Carl Steiger Believed Favorite

Post-Crescent Staff Writer
MADISON — The Republican campaign for a return to power in Wisconsin government in the 1964 election will be under the direction of a young politician of energetic style and conservative conviction.

Talbot Peterson, a 41-year-old Appleton industrial company executive, Wednesday was named chairman of the Republican party organization by its executive committee to succeed Claude J. Jasper of Madison, who retired. The selection was made by the executive committee after a more

JFK Suffers Reversal in House Voting

Lawmakers Turn Down Bill on Aid to U.S. Depressed Areas

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's legislative leaders, beaten in the House on economic aid to depressed areas, looked to the Senate today to keep the defeat from turning into disaster.

In one of the worst congressional reverses Kennedy has suffered, his bill to authorize $450 million more in grants and loans to encourage job-making industries in high unemployment areas lost 209 to 204 in the House Wednesday.

Defeat of the bill does not abolish the Area Redevelopment Administration, which administers the program. But Chairman W. R. Patman, D-Tex., of the House Banking Committee, said it means ARA must immediately stop accepting applications for new loans and grants and that it will run out of funds before long, certainly within a year, unless another bill is passed.

Patman, main sponsor of the legislation, said his bill is dead in the House, but that similar legislation is still alive in the Senate and there is a chance the House might accept some version of a bill the Senate passed.

The authorization bill went down in the House under a hail of criticism, mainly from Republicans who charged the program was badly administered, that too large a share of its resources had been channeled into a few large projects like a recreational area in Oklahoma, and into projects in rural areas of underemployment rather than urban pockets of hard core joblessness.

Wisconsin delegation split their vote.

Voting against were Republicans Byrnes, Laird, Schadeberg, Thomson and Van Pelt while Democrats Johnson, Kastenmeier, Reuss and Zablocki voted for.

Republican O'Rourke did not vote but was recorded as for the plan.

Report of British Sub Sinking Proves to be Untrue, Asserts Navy

BOSTON (AP)—A British submarine had a temporary loss of communications today which set off a report that she was sinking off the New England coast. But the report soon was labeled a false alarm.

The submarine Artemis is operating with a British task force and Canadian destroyers in anti-submarine warfare exercises.

In explaining what happened, the navy at Newport, R. I., said the temporary loss of communications aboard Artemis initiated an alert to all ships in the area.

Lucey Favors J. L. Hanson as His Successor

Three Others May Oppose Mellen Man For Chairmanship

MADISON (AP)—Patrick J. Lucey of Madison is stepping down this month as Wisconsin Democratic party chairman after a six-year tenure which has seen his party elect a pair of U.S. senators and three governors.

Lucey has tapped J. Louis Hanson of Mellen as his successor and the faction which opposes Lucey is having a tough time putting up a candidate of its own.

Those considering a challenge to Lucey and Hanson at the June 21-22 Democratic convention at La Crosse are Frank Nikolay, an Abbottsford assemblyman; Francis A. Rondeau of Mosinee; and Robert J. Beaudry of West Allis.

Lucey, a 45-year-old real estate man who entered politics in 1948 by winning the Crawford County Assembly seat, has served an unprecedented three terms as party chief.

3 Top State Jobs

He leaves the job with the Democratic party holding the three top political jobs in the state for the first time this century.

Lucey's designation of Hanson as a successor makes any opposition difficult. Hanson, a 37-year-old furniture manufacturer's representative, has the added advantage of being a close personal friend of Sen. Gaylord Nelson.

While Nelson and Lucey have often disagreed on the operation and aims of the state Democratic party, they are united in support of Hanson. Nelson has previously urged Hanson to run for the chairmanship.

1,200-Acre Estate

Hanson has a 1,200-acre estate in the Chequamegon National Forest, where he lives with his brother, Martin. Both are bachelors.

In 1962, Hanson made an unsuccessful race against Rep. Alvin O'Rourke, R-Wis., in the 10th Congressional District.

Nikolay, 40, is an attorney serving his third term in the Assembly. He locked horns with Lucey in 1961 when he challenged for the party leadership.

Nelson was behind Nikolay in his campaign for the chairmanship, but Nikolay is a major in Wisconsin's 32nd National Guard Division and when the Guard was called to federal service in the Berlin crisis, Nikolay was removed from the race. Most observers felt Lucey would have defeated Nikolay and Nelson at the convention.

Premiere's on Broadway Cleopatra Acclaimed By New York Critics

NEW YORK (AP)—"Cleopatra," $40 million worth of glauding the acting of all the Broadway Wednesday night and saluting producer Joseph Mankiewicz as investing "the Caesar-Cleopatra affair with delicious humor."

The premiere at the Rivoli Theater was a celebrity-packed charity affair, featuring the added glitter of two of the film's stars: Rex ("Caesar") Harrison and Roddy ("Octavius") McDowall.

Thumbs Down

A "thumbs-down" for the extravaganza came from Judith Crist of the New York Herald Tribune, who wrote that the movie "is at best a major disappointment, at worst an extravagant exercise in tedium."

Justin Gilbert of the New York Mirror termed the film "A spectacular, sensuous spectacle," and was critical of Miss Taylor's direction.

Rose Pelwick of the New York Journal-American said "tremendous is the word for 'Cleopatra'."

William Glover of the Associated Press viewed "Cleopatra" as "merely one more overlong, gaudy and ultimately tedious superscreen spectacle."

Archer Winsten of the New York Post said the film "will not make back its money on its mere passing entertainment, one of the great epic films of our day... fraught with imperishable romance, adventure and tragedy... Wanda Hale of the New York Daily News termed it a film hell."

Negroes Swim At Pools in Atlanta, Ga.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Negroes went swimming at five previously white pools Wednesday as the city's 12 public pools opened for the first time on a desegregated basis.

Only one incident was reported by police, a fight between a Negro and a white youth behind a pavilion some distance from the pool at Maddox Park. Both were in street clothes at the time.

Police Supt. Fred Reerman said he attached no significance to the incident.

A city parks spokesman estimated use of the pools by white persons was well below the average but said exact figures were not available.

When three Negro high school boys entered Piedmont Park pool, about six white persons left the pool and about 30 remained.

A white mother passed by the Negroes and said, "Come on, Charlie, let's go to East Point where there ain't no niggers."

East Point is a suburban municipality.

The woman then walked up to one of several policemen on duty at the large pool and asked, "Does the lifeguard have to save them if they drown? I wouldn't."

The officer made no reply.

Evers' Widow Urges Negroes to Continue Discrimination Fight

Detective Says 'We Have Good Leads' to Identity of Assassin

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—As rifle — police pressed their hunt tension mounted in this troubled for the assassin slayer. Southern city, police and federal agents continued a massive crowd of 700 Negroes Wednesday search today for the assassin of her was determined the death of Negro leader Medgar W. Evers, her husband would not be in vain.

"We have some good leads," Men Cry

Men wept unashamedly. Teenagers bit their lips and stared ahead with unblinking eyes.

"I come here tonight with a broken heart," said the 30-year-old widow, "but I come because I feel it is my duty."

"I come to make a plea. No one knows like I know how my husband gave his life for this cause before he was killed. He lived with it 24 hours a day."

She said he talked of death the day before his assassination "and said if he had to go he would rather it would be this way."

When she finished, the audience silently rose. There were no "freedom songs," no cheers, none of the exuberance that marks other mass integration rallies.

Instead, their voices pealed "My Country 'Tis of Thee, Sweet Land of Liberty."

Funeral arrangements were incomplete for Evers, who left three children—the oldest 10.

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., speaking at a New York meeting, called the slaying "an inexpressible tragedy and an unspeakable outrage."

Later, King said he will attend the funeral.

Rewards totaling $24,350 were posted for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Evers' slayer. The NAACP started the reward fund with $10,000. The city of Jackson and the United Steelworkers of America, AFL-CIO, each chipped in $5,000. The city's two newspapers added $1,000 to the fund.

The assassination came only a few hours after President Kennedy had appealed to the nation for an end to racial discrimination in the face of growing Negro discontent.

A White House statement, on Evers' death said, "The President was appalled by the barbarity of murder weapon—a 30.06 Enfield this act."

Mrs. Evers

Me a while, the widow of the slain man — her voice trembling with emotion — called on Negroes to continue their battle against racial discrimination.

Evers was shot to death in his driveway early Wednesday.

There were fears that the ambush slaying would touch off fresh racial strife in this Mississippi capital city of 145,000.

The Rev. A. Charles Jones, dean of Campbell College for Negroes here and one of the leaders in the integration movement, telegraphed President Kennedy that the "tragedy may provoke a violent explosion in this community which will bring additional disgrace and tarnish the American image before the people of the world."

NAACP Field Secretary Evers, 37, had been Mississippi field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People for the past nine years.

Thirteen ministers and a church layman who gathered downtown for a "mourning march" Wednesday were arrested by police. They were later released without charge.

Later, 146 other Negroes were jailed when police broke up another attempted demonstration.

Late Wednesday night, a police car was hit by several soft drink bottles as it drove through the campus of Jackson State (Negro) College. Police Capt. Cecil Hathaway said the bottles had apparently been hurled from the top of a five-story men's dormitory.

Aided by the discovery of the murder weapon—a 30.06 Enfield this act."

No Euphisms Please, Says Senior Citizen

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — At least one retired Phoenix resident doesn't like being called a "senior citizen."

In a letter to The Arizona Republic, he said:

"If someone calls me Mr. Senior Citizen, I'll punch him square on the nose. Call me by some human term, and I'll love it. Old man. Old guy. Old fellow. Old folks."

"At 78, I'm old. Ain't that respectable any more? I'm looking forward to being 80. Then 90. Then 100."

The letter was signed, "The Old Goat."

Share Price Trend Mixed

Motors and Tobaccos Edge Upward; Trade Fairly Active

NEW YORK (AP)—Motors and tobaccos were ahead as the stock market moved unevenly higher in fairly active trading early this afternoon.

Twentieth Century-Fox dropped 2 points at worst following the premier of its $40 million movie, "Cleopatra," later paring a fraction from the loss.

Gains of fractions to a point or so among most key stocks outnumbered losers. The gain on average was moderate.

Steels, building materials, rails, farm implements, airlines, non-ferrous metals, and office equipments were mostly higher.

The trend was lower among chemicals. Savings-and-loan holding companies were mixed in the wake of news that some additional savings and loan associations were reducing the interest rates paid on savings accounts.

The market opened mixed, with many stocks unchanged, then gradually assumed a higher tone.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .5 at 273.0 with industrials up .5, rails up .8, and utilities off .1.

Analysts said that although "Cleopatra" was greeted mostly with critical acclaim, the question still remained as to how long it would take Fox to get back its investment in the movie, which amounts to about $15 a share — nearly half of the stock's current price.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .85 at 724.21.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were irregularly higher in moderate trading.

Corporate bonds were irregularly lower. U.S. government bonds were steady in quiet dealings over the counter.

Kennedy Confers With Lawmakers On Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy called former President Harry Truman, 12 congressional chiefs of both parties and about 200 labor leaders to the White House today for separate discussions of civil rights matters.

Both Democratic and Republican leaders of the Senate and House were invited to the meeting. House were invited to the meeting. The conference, to consider the administration's forthcoming civil rights message to Congress, followed earlier separate sessions with the Democratic and GOP chiefs.

Andrew T. Hatcher, acting White House press secretary, said that Truman, in town for a dinner tonight, and would see Kennedy late today.

How many years before Father's Day were fathers enjoying Gordon's?

Exactly 141. For Alexander Gordon introduced his remarkable gin to London's fathers way back in 1769. The first official "Father's Day" took place in 1910 at Spokane, Washington. Today, Father's Day is celebrated throughout the nation while Gordon's is celebrated throughout the world. Indeed, it is the biggest-selling gin in all of England, America, the world. Probably because it still harks back to Mr. Gordon's original formula. We've never found reason to tamper with such distinctive dryness and rare flavour.

Cigarettes Taken In Break-in of Sherwood Store

SHERWOOD —Two cartons of cigarettes were reported taken from Barney's Superette in a break-in sometime between 8:30 and 10:30 p.m. Wednesday. The cash register drawer was thrown on the floor, but no money was taken because the day's receipts had been taken to the bank.

Sheriff C. J. Kosmosky said entry was gained by breaking a window in the back door and lifting a latch.

The break-in was reported by Mrs. Barney St. Louis, who operates the store with her husband.

Physician Warns of Health Dangers Which Result From Cigarettes

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—The president-elect of the American Medical Association says there is no question in his mind that cigarette smoking is the greatest producer of preventable disease.

Dr. Edward R. Annis of Miami, Fla., emphasized in an interview with the Evening Bulletin Wednesday that he was speaking as an individual physician in warning against the health dangers of cigarette smoking.

The couple had left the store at 8:30 p.m., and Mrs. St. Louis returned at 10:30 p.m. to pick up a jacket.

Committee Begins Hearings on '63-'65 Budget

MADISON (AP)—The Legislative Committee and Republican lawmakers began deliberations today on 1963-65 over the level of spending in the 65 state expenditures and opened executive budget hearings with consideration of proposed a two-year budget of $669.3 million and Republicans would like to trim some $40 million from that total.

Sen. Fred Risser, D-Madison, strongly objected to the procedure followed by the GOP controlled committee which is now attempting to hammer out a budget acceptable to Republicans who control both houses of the Legislature.

The main dispute between Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds and committee co-chairman Sen. Walter Hollander, R-Rosendale said the group may get to the executive budget Friday.

The proposed highway budget for 1963-65 is $380.4 million, a slight reduction from the $401.5 million appropriated in the current biennium. The highway budget is from segregated funds and does not directly affect the general fund.

2 Van Dykes On Television This Summer

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—This summer CBS Television will be offering two Van Dykes—Dick on reruns and brother Jerry on a new quiz show called "Picture This".

Confusing? Possibly. But it's also possible that television and the show world are big enough for two talented Van Dykes.

Talented they are. Most Americans are becoming familiar with Dick's abilities via his triple Emmy-winning show and the current film "Bye Bye Birdie." Now Jerry has a chance for steady exposure with "Picture This."

Folks who catch the show—

Tuesdays, starting June 25 at 9:30 EDT—will be seeing no carbon copy of Dick.

Differences Explained

"A friend suggested the difference between Dick and me," said Jerry, who is 5½ years the younger. "He said Dick is an actor who does comedy and I am a comedian who does acting."

"That about captures it. Dick is more the college graduate type—smooth, polished. I'm less smooth, more of a country type. I couldn't possibly do the heavy acting that he can do. On the other hand, he couldn't do 10 minutes of standup comedy, as I do."

The two Danville, Ill., boys went their separate ways professionally until Jerry did a two-partner on Dick's show last year. There is somewhat of a family resemblance in the smile and voice, but not much else.

Foreign Nations Settling Some Prices in U. S.

Rising Standard of Living Abroad Cause For Recent Trend

NEW YORK (AP)—An increasingly affluent society outside the United States is beginning to call the tune for the prices of many things Americans buy. Changing political conceptions at home are upsetting the price patterns of some other basic commodities.

Silver, sugar, wheat, cotton, even coffee are some commodities whose prices right now either are being radically changed as they couldn't have been a few years back, or are actually being set by influences outside the United States.

Living standards of many other lands have risen sharply in the last few years. They have been using a lot more sugar, a lot more silver—and draining from the United States a lot of gold.

For years the U.S. government pretty much set the price of sugar at home. Usually it was about two cents a pound above the world price. The import quota policy protected domestic sugar growers and rewarded friendly foreign supplies.

Can't Set Price

The United States can't set the price today. The rest of the world is using much more sugar than it did. Along with smaller crops because of bad weather in Europe and an economic flop in Cuba, rising demand has outrun supply. The price has risen everywhere. Now it's soaring here. Prices of food and drinks containing sugar are rising, too.

The U.S. government for many years set the price of silver by statute. What the U.S. Treasury paid for silver, and what it sold it for, became practically the same thing as the world price.

But the rest of the world, along with the United States, is using more silver now. Industrial usage has soared, thanks in large part to silver's new role in electronics and in defense hardware. Here, too, as in the case of sugar, world production lagged as demand mounted. So the world price of silver rose.

In November 1961 the U.S. Treasury stopped trying to hold the price line. Its free reserves were almost exhausted, so it stopped selling any more. The price has gone from the once

Last Rites for Arthur O'Hara Planned Friday

CHICAGO (AP)—Funeral services will be conducted Friday at Gary, Ind., for Arthur J. O'Hara, 62, banking, civic and educational leader who died Tuesday night.

He was vice president in charge of corporate financial planning and investments for the Northern Trust Co. and served on the investment committees of many civic and charitable institutions in the Chicago area.

A graduate of the University of Wisconsin, O'Hara was a member of the Board of Visitors since 1955, a committee member of the University of Wisconsin Foundation and a member of the Alumni Research Foundation. He was born in Pueblo, Colo.

O'Hara served as faculty member and lecturer at graduate schools of banking at Wisconsin and at Southern Methodist University.

statutory 91.62 cents an ounce to $1.28 an ounce.

Congress now is freeing the treasury stock held as backing for silver certificates (now mostly $1 bills). The treasury expects to use this freed silver for coinage in coming years. Demand for coins is rising everywhere in the age of turnstiles, parking meters and vending machines.

$1.29 Ceiling

Congress hopes this action will put a ceiling of $1.29 an ounce on domestic prices. But the upward price pressure on household and industrial items containing silver will continue for a time.

The domestic prices of wheat and cotton have been largely set by government subsidies and controls, since the United States produces more than it consumes.

What will happen to the price of wheat, now that the farmers have rejected the government's subsidy and control plan, is a political football at the moment—and therefore an uncertainty. But fear of other nations that any surplus will be dumped abroad to maintain wheat prices at home has led to quick assurances by Washington that it won't.

Cotton surpluses are sold abroad for less than the U.S. textile mills have to pay. The domestic industry is demanding, and getting, protection from foreign price competition.

Coffee prices are to be set by international agreement—if the treaty the United States has just ratified works. This sets export and import quotas for major producing and consuming nations. However this works out in dollars and cents is what the U.S. coffee drinker will pay.

Student Revolutionary Groups on Down Trend

BY CONRAD FINK

TOKYO (AP) — Surrounded by collegiate laughter and gentle music from old Glenn Miller records, the young man sat tensely in the cozy off-campus coffee shop. Clenching his fists angrily, he declared:

"American and Japanese workers are asleep. We need immediate action against the U.S. imperialists."

With this curious mixing of Glenn Miller and class warfare, Hiroshi Kuwahara illustrated the dilemma facing his diminishing band of student revolutionaries who just three years ago pushed Japan to the brink of revolt.

Kuwahara, 21, is international secretary of the once-powerful Zengakuren leftist student federation. In June 1960, he and his comrades were important figures as they sent hundreds of thousands of screaming youths snake-dancing through the streets in massive demonstrations against the U.S.-Japan security treaty.

Today, these professional young leftists seem strangely out of step with Japan's increasingly carefree youth. Their ideology of riot and revolt is taking a licking from Glenn Miller and the coffee shops.

Poorly Organized

Some poorly-organized student groups still straggle occasionally through Tokyo's streets to denounce U.S. airplanes and submarines, U.S. nuclear tests and the United States in general.

But many of the Zengakuren split and quarrels with the Japan faithful have "passed over" to Communist party and other left. They sound removed from reality, comfortable jobs in Japan's largest groups. Its prestige is low following revelations that "capitalist industries and now that they have vested interests in capitalist money" has found its way into ism, nervously avoid even talking the headquarters coffers.

The aura of cautious indecision that surrounds Zengakuren leaders contrasts sharply with the field marshal image they presented in 1960.

Now, Kuwahara and comrades such as Yoji Ikegami, Zengakuren general secretary, talk about "Washington warmongers."

They sound removed from reality, comfortable jobs in Japan's largest groups. Its prestige is low following revelations that "capitalist industries and now that they have vested interests in capitalist money" has found its way into ism, nervously avoid even talking the headquarters coffers.

Congress now is freeing the treasury stock held as backing for silver certificates (now mostly $1 bills). The treasury expects to use this freed silver for coinage in coming years. Demand for coins is rising everywhere in the age of turnstiles, parking meters and vending machines.

$1.29 Ceiling
Congress hopes this action will put a ceiling of $1.29 an ounce on domestic prices. But the upward price pressure on household and industrial items containing silver will continue for a time.

The domestic prices of wheat and cotton have been largely set by government subsidies and controls, since the United States produces more than it consumes.

What will happen to the price of wheat, now that the farmers have rejected the government's subsidy and control plan, is a political football at the moment—and therefore an uncertainty. But fear of other nations that any surplus will be dumped abroad to maintain wheat prices at home has led to quick assurances by Washington that it won't.

Cotton surpluses are sold abroad for less than the U.S. textile mills have to pay. The domestic industry is demanding, and getting, protection from foreign price competition.

Coffee prices are to be set by international agreement—if the treaty the United States has just ratified works. This sets export and import quotas for major producing and consuming nations. However this works out in dollars and cents is what the U.S. coffee drinker will pay.

Student Revolutionary Groups on Down Trend

BY CONRAD FINK

TOKYO (AP) —Surrounded by collegiate laughter and gentle music from old Glenn Miller records the young man sat tensely in the cozy off campus coffee shop. Clenching his fists angrily he declared:

"American and Japanese workers are asleep. We need immediate action against the U.S. imperialists."

With this curious mixing of Glenn Miller and class warfare Hiroshi Kuwahara illustrated the dilemma facing his diminishing band of student revolutionaries who just three years ago pushed Japan to the brink of revolt through Tokyo's streets to de-

Kuwahara, 21, is international secretary of the once-powerful Zengakuren leftist student federation. In June 1960 he and his comrades were important figures as they sent hundreds of thousands of screaming youths snake dancing through the streets in massive demonstrations against the U.S. Japan security treaty.

Today these professional young leftists seem strangely out of step with Japan's increasingly carefree youth. Their ideology of riot and revolt is taking a licking from Glenn Miller and the coffee shops.

Poorly Organized

Some poorly organized student groups still straggle occasionally through Tokyo's streets to denounce U.S. airplanes and whimper about their days as budding revolutionaries. U.S. nuclear tests and the lunatic United States in general.

But many of the Zengakuren split and quarrels with the Japan faithful have passed over to Communist party and other left comfortable jobs in Japan's largest groups. Its prestige is low for pest industries and now that they know revelations that "capital have vested interests in capital money" has found its way into ism nervously avoid even talking the headquarters' coffers.

The aura of cautious indecision that surrounds Zengakuren leaders contrasts sharply with the field marshal image they presented in 1960.

Now Kuwahara and comrades such as Yoji Ikegami, Zengakuren general secretary, talk about oppressed American workers and Washington warmongers. They sound removed from reality young men who make careers of tilting at windmills.

If the trend continues those who might lead the attack that toppled Prime

Prize-Winning Salads Lend Seasonal Color To Summertime Meals

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

One of the culinary joys of the present season is the abundance of fresh vegetables that keep mounting on produce counters of area markets as new varieties come into their own. Most housewives welcome each one because most of us are addicted to salads for summer meals.

Fresh vegetables bring captivating flavors, color and variety of texture to our meals. Deep green leaves and the yellow-orange group such as carrots and squash are excellent providers of Vitamin A. Western grown spinach of deep green, crunchy carrots, mild flavored green onions and crisp textured Iceberg lettuce now are in good supply. Artichokes and asparagus, favored by epicures, are reaching peak production that brings them into the medium price range.

Raw vegetable cut in small cubes or strips and then tossed with salad greens and a favorite dressing can give a light touch to balance the compactness of a meat course . . . vegetables can be combined with meats, leafy greens with fruits to make a main course meal with the addition of rolls and a beverage. A salad can be the mainstay of a light meal . . . It's the salad mixin's that go beautifully with seafoods to make a sumptuous feast on a hot summer day or evening.

Some men don't go for salads as such, but if salads are served as a side dish they will eat them with relish. One of these favorites is Wilted Lettuce Salad, especially when made with the first lettuce that comes up in the home garden. Other unusual salads from the standpoint of flavor comprise the rest of today's recipes.

Jade Tree Salad . . . Citrus Stuffed Lobster Tails . . . Spinach-Bacon Salad Bowl . . . and Swedish Apple Salad. Try them all they're superb.

Wilted Lettuce Salad

- 6 slices bacon, diced
- 1 head lettuce
- 1 tomato, diced
- 1/4 cup sliced green onion
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon oregano
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons vinegar

Fry bacon until crisp; drain, reserving one tablespoon fat. Tear lettuce into salad bowl; add tomato, onion and seasonings. Combine vinegar and tablespoon bacon fat in pan; bring to boil. Toss

In This Main Dish Salad cooked lobster meat is mixed with a delectable dressing of orange juice, mayonnaise, minced celery and onion salt, tarragon and celery seeds. Just before serving, orange sections are folded into the lobster mixture which is then spooned back into the lobster shells for attractive serving.

History Has It That much of our fine cooking lore came from China via Marco Polo and this Oriental Jade Tree Salad helps prove it. A prize-winner in a California salad contest, it is a delicious blend of Oriental and American cuisine. A unique combination of chicken, water chestnuts and toasted sesame seeds, the dressing uses safflower oil. Peanut oil may be substituted, but it's not quite so good.

Salad Items Plentiful in Area Stores

Produce counters will be loaded with lots of fresh vegetables at appealing prices. As the seasonal supplies go up, the prices start down. Early summer fruits are in now with some still at higher prices, according to Rosemary Stare, consumer marketing specialist at the University of Wisconsin.

Salad items are in the plentiful, economical group with radishes, green onions, peppers, cucumbers, celery and leafy greens of good quality. Cabbage is still a good buy and carrots still modestly priced.

Good quality asparagus is coming in from New Jersey as well as from local areas. Sweet corn is in from Florida, Louisiana and Oklahoma now. Quality seems quite good with prices not out of line.

New Potatoes

Most of the potatoes on the market are new ones. Long whites from California and reds from Alabama and Arizona are supplemented by a few Idaho Russets. Good quality and reasonable prices make them a good buy.

Apricots, neclarnes, blueberries and beauty plums are the newest fruits on the market. Santa Rosa plums will be coming soon. Peaches, Bing cherries and melons are other fruits that you'll need to compare prices with their quality.

Best pork buys this week will be on pork chops, steaks, butt roasts and hams. Beef cuts for indoor cooking will be on the lower price side. Blade cut chuck roasts, rib roasts and ground beef may be moderate in cost.

Broiler-fryers are priced a little lower than last week. Watch for dairy features this month, too.

Green Peppers Add Color, Zest To Cole Slaw

Even if you have a favorite cole slaw — one you have made for years — we urge you to try this colorful, delightful Green Pepper Cole Slaw.

Follow the recipe exactly using the good quality ingredients as called for — the full amount of green pepper, the real mayonnaise and the tarragon vinegar.

- Green Pepper Cole Slaw
- 4 cups shredded cabbage
 - 1 cup shredded green pepper
 - 1/2 cup shredded carrot
 - 2 tablespoons sugar
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 3/4 teaspoon white pepper
 - 1/2 cup mayonnaise
 - 1 tablespoon tarragon vinegar
 - 1 teaspoon celery seed
 - Salad greens
 - Green pepper rings

Combine cabbage, green pepper, carrot, sugar, salt and pepper. Blend mayonnaise, vinegar and celery seed. Add to cabbage mixture; toss until well mixed. Line salad bowl with greens. Fill with cole slaw. Garnish with green pepper rings. Recipe makes six servings.

Like the Familiar Waldorf Salad, this Swedish Apple Salad uses apples and celery as a base, but there the similarity ends. The other ingredients are pure Scandinavian inspiration. Cooked sweet potatoes add a surprising mellowness and excellent contrast to the crunchy apples and celery. These are all blended together with convenient canned tomato sauce, mayonnaise and a touch of lemon juice and pickle relish.

Y's Menettes Install Officers

Newly elected officers of the Y's Menettes were installed when the group held a 6:30 p.m. dinner meeting June 4 at Alex's Manor House. Mrs. James Mohr was seated as president for the 1963-64 term.

New members, inducted at a ceremony held after the dinner, are Mrs. Gary Bezella, Mrs. Elaine Claypool, Mrs. Gordon Elliot, Mrs. Bruce Henning and Mrs. Ginnard Reynolds.

Special attendance awards were presented.

Seyleste Hyland, Menasha, presided. Mrs. Robert Rossmeliss was elected grand regent; vice regent, Mrs. Frank Taylor; prophetess, Mrs. Thomas Planner; lecturer, Mrs. Harry Jollie; historian, Mrs. Milo Godschalk; financial secretary, Mrs. John Muenster; treasurer, Mrs. John Kurth; monitor, Mrs. Willard Tillman; assistant monitor, Mrs. Robert Schindhelm; sentinel, Mrs. Roger Vanden Heuvel; organist, Mrs. Kenneth McMahon, and trustee, Mrs. William Grimes.

A Xavier High School student, Miss Mary Verbrick, won third place in the high school division of the state poetry contest.

The group voted a donation to the Rev. Gordon Gilsdorf for the migrant workers program and made a pledge to the St. Elizabeth Hospital building fund.

A tea was held after the installation ceremony. Chairman was Miss Cecile Haag, assisted by Mrs. Raymond Vandehay. Members of the tea committee were Misses John T. Barrows, Ray Brock, A. W. Cleerehan, Marvin J. DeBruin, O. V. Gasser, Maury Griesbach, Peter Heid, Martin Hupka, Arthur Liese, James Malak, William Mitchell, Paul Neubauer, Andrew Parnell, Clement Rankin, Joseph Spranger, Emmet O. Tillman, Alice Wolf and Clarence Wallace. Also members of the committee were Misses Cecile Kamps and Mary Schueller.

Methodists Plan Picnic

The MMM Club of the First Methodist Church will sponsor an all church picnic from 3 to 3 p.m. Sunday at Sunset Point, Kimberly. Church members have been requested to bring their own meat, huns, grilling equipment and a dish to pass.

Recreation activities have been planned for all ages. Chairmen of the event are Mr. and Mrs. E. Pete Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Jerold Buchberger, Kimberly, and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ruth.

In event of rain, the affair will be held at 5 p.m. at the church.

Ann's Latest Proclamation: 'Return Borrowed Book Day'

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Something happened today that has made me thoroughly ashamed.

Today was the day I decided to give the library a top-to-bottom cleaning and polishing. This meant taking all the books off the shelves. I ran across three books which I had "borrowed."

One of these books was personally autographed by the author and I promised faithfully to return it within the week. That was last summer.

Then I go to thinking of all the books I had loaned to friends who had promised to return them—and never did.

Millions of people read your column, Ann, and I'll bet thousands who are reading these words have some borrowed books on their shelves. Will you print this letter and proclaim today "Return Borrowed Book Day"? Thank you.—Dee Troit

Dear Dee Troit: Be it known that today, June 13, 1963 is proclaimed to be "Return Borrowed Book Day" in the United States, Canada and all foreign countries in which this column appears. And thank you for reminding me. I'd better return a couple of books myself.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 11-year-old son has refused to do one thing in school all year long. I've talked to his teacher, the principal, and other mothers. I've consulted a psychologist, our minister, our family physician, the eye doctor and the ear doctor. They all say he is healthy, normal, and intelligent—not to worry, that he will study when he is ready. The question is when will he be ready?

I might add he is rather large for his age, quite handsome, and the girls like him. He hates competitive games and soap and water. I've praised, threatened, bribed and pleaded. Nothing works. What do I do next?—Slymied But Hopeful

Dear Slymied: why don't you try leaving him alone? This boy sounds like a kid whose mother is pushing him too hard. He may "be ready" when you take the whip off his back.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I mar-

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

FRIEND IS TV STAR

Dear Louise: The daughter of our dearest friends is a well known actress who has appeared on Broadway and who is a television star.

Her mother always informs me of the date she will be in a TV show and we always make it a special point to let nothing else interfere when her program is scheduled.

We have watched the girl grow up and it has been fascinating to observe her progress and development into an excellent artist these past few years. On a couple of occasions, we have been invited to dinner on the nights that the girl is to appear. I turn down these invitations with somewhat guilty feelings. My honest excuse always seems so lame. I would like your comments or suggestions.

Louise Davis Answers: ...

You have a right to have "another engagement" on such a special TV evening even if it is in your own living room. That is excuse enough. Being as close as you are to the young star and her parents, you naturally have a compulsion to stick to the TV screen, but without any sense of guilt even though the program may be but a half hour long. When you are invited on such scheduled evenings, you needn't give any other reason except that, "I'm so very sorry we are unable to accept your kind invitation as Bob and I have made other plans for that evening."

I tried this girl when she was 18. I thought she was mature because she had already finished two years of college, but I have learned that maturity and intelligence are not the same thing. We have had 18 months of what I will freely admit has been less than a perfect marriage. We seem to be arguing continuously about unimportant things. I have long suspected that my wife picks fights so she can have an excuse to get mad at me and sleep in the guest room.

Yesterday I received a letter in the mail. It was from my mother-in-law. This letter listed all the things my wife is unhappy about. Most of the complaints had to do with our sex life. I was shocked. The letter ended with, "I don't expect a reply, of course. This letter is just to help you iron things out with Susan."

What is a mature reaction to a situation such as this?—Fred

Dear Fred: If communication between you and your wife is so poor that she must complain to her mother, something is drastically wrong.

You both need professional counseling. All married couples have problems, and talking them out is healthy and constructive. When a couple can't talk, they should seek outside help.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? Is so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Before You Marry—Is It Love Or Sex?", enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Too Much Optimism Backfires

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

"It is better to aim at a star and hit a barpost," I once read somewhere. "than to aim at a barpost and hit the ground." This is probably all right if you know what a barpost is and happen to want one. At the bridge table, however, it's better to forget about the stars and aim at something you can hit.

South won the first trick with the ace of clubs and led the queen of spades for a finesse. East won with the king of spades and returned the queen of hearts.

That was good old aim-at-the-stars East in action, throwing away the defense. From here on South had an easy time.

South won the heart return with the ace, drew trumps with the ace and jack, and led a club toward dummy. West put up the ten, and dummy won with the king, and returned the nine of clubs.

Back came a heart to the king, and South led a diamond to set up one of dummy's honors. When declarer got to dummy with a diamond he cashed the eight of clubs to discard a diamond from his hand. He lost only one diamond, one trump, and one club.

Should Have Known

East should have known that South had the ace and king of hearts for they were the only high cards that South could have for his decision to go on to four spades. South might have opened the bidding with just two aces and a spade suit headed by Q-J-10,

Thursday, June 13, 1963 Appleton Post-Crescent C2

but then he would have stopped at three spades.

East was aiming at the stars when he returned the queen of could have aimed at that by returning a low diamond instead of the queen of hearts.

West's ten would force out dummy's queen of diamonds. West would get in with the jack of clubs in time to lead another diamond. East would get two diamond tricks, defeating the contract.

Cookie Recipes for Mailing Featured in New Cook Book

Advice on the mailing of cookies is one of the subjects covered in the new cook book, "The Art of Making Good Cookies Plain and Fancy," by Annette Laslett Ross and Jean Adams Disney, recently published by Doubleday. For travel, the authors recommend that cookies do not slip or slide about. For extra protection, over-wrap the container with additional corrugated paper, then wrap in sturdy paper.

One of the recipes listed as a "good traveler" is this one for Ginger Slices.

Ginger Slices

- 1 cup shortening
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 cup dark corn syrup
- 1 cup chopped nuts (omit if mailing far away)
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 4 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 1/2 teaspoons ginger
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 3 tablespoons milk

Cream soft shortening with sugar. Add corn syrup, then finely chopped nuts. Sift together dry ingredients. Add half to shortening mixture. Add milk, then remaining flour mixture. Shape into two rolls on waxed paper or aluminum foil. Chill overnight or at least six hours. Cut in thin slices. Bake on lightly greased cookie sheet in 375 degree oven 10 to 12 minutes. Do not over-brown or cookies will be hard. Recipe makes about six to seven dozen cookies.

Garnish for Fish

with salad. Crumble cooked bacon over salad.

Leaf lettuce from the garden may be substituted for the head lettuce. Recipe makes about six servings.

Jade Tree Salad

- 1 head iceberg lettuce
- 1/4 cup sesame seeds
- 1/3 cups safflower oil
- 2/3 cups tarragon vinegar
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 5 ounces can water chestnuts, drained, rinsed, sliced
- 12 ounces boned chicken (can be suggested)

Core lettuce; rinse in cold water and drain well. Place in plastic bag or transparent wrap and refrigerate. Toast sesame seeds in ungreased pan over low heat, stirring frequently, until lightly browned; cool. Combine oil, vinegar, seasonings and sugar in jar with tight-fitting lid; cover and shake until well blended. Add toasted sesame seeds and cheese. Shake again.

Tear lettuce into salad bowl; add dressing and toss lightly to coat lettuce well. Garnish with water chestnuts and chicken. Recipe makes about six servings.

Citrus Stuffed Lobster Tails

- 6 rock lobster tails
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 3 tablespoons minced celery
- 1 teaspoon minced onion
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon tarragon
- 1/2 teaspoon celery seeds
- 3 cups orange sections (about 3 oranges)
- 2 tablespoons orange juice

Cook lobster tails according to package directions for boiling. Remove underskin; remove and reserve lobster meat. Rinse lobster shells and keep refrigerated until ready to use. Cut lobster meat into chunks. Toss with mayonnaise, celery, onion, salt, tarragon and celery seeds.

Measure two tablespoons of orange juice from fruit which has been sectioned; add juice to lobster mixture. Refrigerate to let flavors blend.

Fold orange sections into lobster mixture. Spoon into lobster shells, mounding lobster meat and orange sections. Serve on lettuce. Recipe makes four to six servings.

Spinach-Bacon Salad Bowl

- 6 slices bacon
- 1/3 cup instant powdered cream
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/2 to 1/3 cup vinegar
- 2 tablespoons bacon fat
- 1 pound fresh spinach, washed and drained
- 2 hard-boiled eggs, sliced
- CROUTONS

Actor, Daughter Of Heiress to Wed in Europe

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Swedish actor-director Gunnar Hellstrom, 34, says he will marry Pamela Browne, 21, formerly of Evansville, Ind.

Her mother, the former Evelyn Johnson of New York City is an heiress to the Mead-Johnson fortune in baby products and a reducing formula.

Miss Browne's father, Gaylor Browne, is a professor of music at Los Angeles State College. The parents are divorced.

Five ties were scored in the mystery hole event. Winners were Mrs. Streck, Mrs. Leo Burhans, Mrs. Leroy Strube, Mrs. C. B. Lippert and Mrs. Shortt. Mrs. Streck and Mrs. Johnson won low putt honors. The group will play again Tuesday.

Marinades Add Flavor to Meats

BY MARY-BETH KUESTER
Home Economist,
Wisconsin Michigan Power Co.

Always prized for their tenderizing qualities, marinades also add good flavor and interest to meat.

By definition, a marinade is a liquid, usually acid in nature, containing spices, herbs or condiments, with or without the addition of oil. To marinate is to let foods stand in a marinade to take on (or sometimes give up) flavor and take advantage of any tenderizing effect. Sauerbraten, hassenpfeffer, beef a la mode and many other old world dishes just wouldn't be the same without marinating.

For greatest success marinade and food should be made for each other. Match foods with full-bodied flavor with marinade of a robust nature. Delicate foods are best with milder marinades.

Select a glass, stainless steel or porcelain container for marinating. Have it just large enough to hold meat comfortably so that meat will be covered with marinade. With large pieces, put a weight on top, if necessary, to keep meat beneath the liquid. Turn meat occasionally.

The larger the pieces, the longer the marinating will take. Small cubes of meat require only a few hours but an eight to 10-pound roast needs to be marinated overnight. Highly seasoned sauerbraten may take two or more days.

When ready to cook marinated meats, drain the pieces thoroughly. Damp surfaces don't brown well, so wipe with cheesecloth or paper toweling.

Here are two marinades to use for your next outdoor meal.

Tangy Marinade

- 4 servings of meat
- 1 envelope garlic salad dressing mix
- 1/3 cup vinegar
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon oregano
- 1/3 cup salad oil
- 1 clove garlic, finely chopped
- 6 drops Tabasco sauce
- 1/3 cup chopped onion
- 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
- 1/4 cup tablespoon chopped celery
- Combine ingredients and mix

Skinned Tomatoes

When tomatoes are extremely ripe, their skins can be loosened before removal—by rubbing the back of a knife over them. Saves holding the tomatoes over a flame or dipping in scalding water before removing skins.

well. Pour over chicken and marinate for four to five hours overnight in refrigerator. Turn meat two or three times. Chicken can be steamed the day before, marinated overnight and run under the broiler for a final browning.

Marinade for Roast Beef

- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
- 2/3 cup chopped onion
- 1/4 cup chopped celery, including some leaves
- 2 envelopes garlic salad dressing mix

- 1/3 cup vinegar
- 1/2 cup salad oil
- 1 cup grape juice
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 6 pounds blade bone chuck roast

Combine all ingredients except meat and mix well. Pour over meat. Cover with foil and marinate 12 to 24 hours in refrigerator, turning meat occasionally. When roasting meat, baste occasionally with marinade.

Caracas Reds, Pro-Castroists Face Arrest

Communist and MIR parties. The MIR, or Movement of the Revolutionary Left, is a pro-Castro revolutionary movement.

The order was the toughest Betancourt has issued against subversives who began moving against him shortly after he took office in 1959. The next election is scheduled for November. The president has banned Communists from the election.

Previous Plots

He has survived three previous known plots against his life and two revolts against his government. It is believed there were several other assassination attempts that never were announced.

Betancourt, noting that the government cannot hold anyone without charges for more than 30 days, vowed that every Communist will be jailed again as soon as released. Such 30-day periods of detention could go on indefinitely.

The president, a moderate leftist, said he ordered the arrests because the legislature was taking too much time to enact an anti-terrorist emergency measure he proposed last week. The bill specifies 30-year prison terms for terrorists convicted of burning factories, one of their prime targets in a campaign stepped up since the Cuban crisis last fall.

Cooper Tells of His Experiences in Space

South Indian Ocean — Cooper reported:

"I am now drifting on the night side. I have the moon in sight. I'm upside down. I'm observing lighting flashes from considerable size thunderstorms that are below me. These create static in the radio every time the lightning flashes down there."

Easy to Sleep

Earlier he said, "people wonder if it's hard to sleep up here. I just drifted off for about three or four minutes on a quick little nap. Sleep here just like you do anywhere else."

As the diary rolls on, Cooper seems to be getting more accustomed to the wonders of passing days and nights, fireflies and have lavers and begins to think about about them.

"Sunrise—and the sun is behind me. . . to the rear of me. With Saturn along by it—and I'm getting John's fireflies again, coming off the spacecraft. And you could almost align yaw (the direction the spacecraft is pointing, right or left) by the fireflies. They drift away to the rear of the flight path."

He was later to pinpoint the source of the fireflies—tiny insects from the small jets that enable him to control spacecraft position.

Heavy Cloud Cover

The diary continues, "Lightning flashes on the ground, down on earth, that is. Terrible cloud cover. Venus and Jupiter . . . Jupiter on the left hand of the window. . . and I'm beginning to get brilliant blue of sun rising in the East."

He had searched for the flashing beacon he had released from his orbiting spacecraft. But he hadn't been able to find it. Then the flashing beacon . . . The light in sight. It is below me. It is quite a brownish, reddish brown and considerable altitude above the ground. Every time I fire a pitch down thruster, I get a shower of these little fireflies. The light is flashing now. It is the light. It's quite bright, quite discernible."

Later, he said, "I have the flashing light in sight again. Extremely weak, very weak, I tell you. Just barely discernible. I would estimate it to be somewhere in the order of 18 to 20 miles away. It is out, and the water is very bright below. It's quite a lovely moonlight night."

Trouble With Water

After his early experiments he turned to taking pictures for "the (words omitted) people."

He also had troubles: "I'm eating a pot roast of beef. I've had considerable difficulty getting the water in it (dehydrated food in a plastic envelope) from this water"

Anger are determined that his life shall not be given in vain."

In Atlanta, Julian Bond of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee said "I definitely think it will make Negroes more militant. People we have working for us in Southwest Georgia and in Arkansas now want to go to Jackson."

2. Several Southerners spoke of the possibility of white counter-reaction.

Louis Eckl, editor of the Florida Times said "This is the danger that people will stop thinking and start shooting. Generally speaking when you have a violent thing like this it firms the Negroes up. It is a highly explosive situation and liable to device on the McDonnell water tank I spilled water all over my hands, and all over the cockpit here trying to get some in it. I have succeeded in getting about half of it dampened and am proceeding to eat."

"I am washing my face with a damp rag now. Certainly feels good."

"It is rather a strange feeling to be able to place objects out into the—into the cabin and let go of them and they'll stay in relatively their same position. This is worrisome as well as an odd sensation, handy sometime."

The only close-up description of land in the diary is this one:

"I'm right over Africa (time passes) I can see roads, and rivers, and some small towns, down here on the ground. Small villages or towns, can almost make out the individual houses."

On his 13th orbit, he found some time for personal notes.

"One comment on the various sleep periods that I've had, nearly every time that I have awakened, I found that I have been so soundly asleep I don't even know where you. Just barely discernible."

"Have a note to be added in for head-shrinkers. Enjoy the full drifting flights most of all, where you really have the feeling of freedom, and you aren't worried about the systems fouling up."

"You (clears throat) have everything turned off, and just drifting along lazily, however, I haven't encountered any of this so-called split-off phenomena. Still note that I am thinking very much about returning to earth at the proper time and safely."

"A bullet in the back of Medgar Evers may very well find its mate in a bullet in the back of some white supremacist. When that happens, all hell will break loose."

3. Newly established lines of communication between the races in the South are under severe strain today, if not actually broken down.

In many Southern cities, moderates of both races have gradually been restoring communications in an effort to find peaceable solutions to the Negro demands for equality in the schools and in other facilities.

In Tuscaloosa, Ala., for example, the integration of the University of Alabama last Tuesday followed months of discussions. They were initiated by prominent white Tuscaloosans. But Negro leaders were kept informed of the progress toward an agreement on enrolling two Negroes, Vivian Malone and James A. Hood, in the university.

Setback for Moderates

These gains are threatened to a severe setback for moderates of both races and an encouragement to extremists on both sides.

Robert Snodgrass, Georgia state Republican committeeman, said "Just as tension was beginning to lessen and an opportunity appeared for people of moderation to make headway, some demented soul makes it so difficult to bring about an improvement."

"This shooting provides fuel for extremists on both sides and prevents moderation from prevailing."

Both white and Negro observers said they believe the Black Muslims would "make immense capital out of this."

brought home the fact that we are not treating all of our people as Americans. We are no longer asking a nation of 100 million to accept a policy of discrimination."

Johnson was met at the airport by Wisconsin's Democratic Governor John W. Reynolds and U.S. Sen. Otto A. Anderson. Washington D.C. president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. He was accompanied by his wife, Lady Bird.

His scheduled arrival in QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—Illness may prevent Carlos Maria Cardenal de la Torre from attending the conclave that will elect a new pope, his doctor said Wednesday.

The 81-year-old cardinal suffered a stroke last December. Cardinal de la Torre's absence may reduce the conclave to a maximum of 80 cardinals. Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, who is a refugee in the U.S. legation in Budapest, Hungary, is not expected to attend.

If they would "lend half as much encouragement to local law enforcement officials as they do to the demonstrators," the demonstrations would fall of their own weight, said Russell.

Asked about threats of nationwide Negro demonstrations if a filibuster is launched against civil rights legislation, Russell said they "will have no effect on me except to strengthen my resolve to defend the Constitution."

He said that they might "frighten a few weak-kneed people" but that those who would be intimidated have no place in government.

Russell also indicated, in response to questions, that the forthcoming civil rights battle in Congress could jeopardize other parts of the President's program.

"I don't think he is going to help his program by trying to frighten members of Congress into passing this legislation," he said.

Referring to Kennedy's address, Russell said he was "shocked to hear the President justify, if not encourage, the present wave of mass demonstrations."

"The President's speech appealed eloquently to the emotions, but completely disregarded reason, human experience and true equality under the Constitution," Russell said.

Rising to the Occasion

When a lass fails to rise from women whose years or position her chair at the approach of an adult, her manners are showing. Girls must stand to be introduced. greet and take leave of their elders, if they wish to be thought mannerly.

Even mature women show a lack of courtesy by not rising on occasion. If lady could only remember that all our social customs are based on consideration, she would be less likely to create awkward situations for herself. She then would not hesitate to rise upon the entrance, introduction or departure of both men and Thus tact becomes a factor in the making of the gesture. When it is made, graciousness keys its charm. The action should come from the heart, as well as the feet. It should be gracefully composed, neither a flying leap nor yet a reluctant leave-ho.

Shrimp Piquant Fine Recipe for Weightwatchers

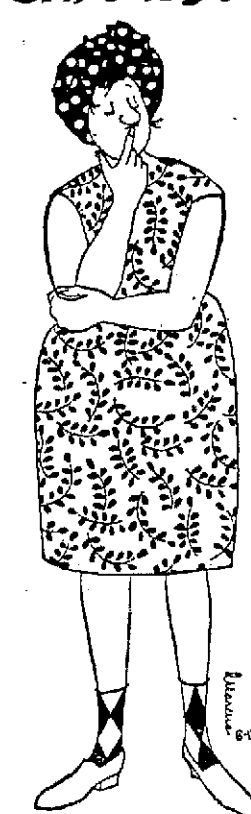

A good main dish to add to a dieting repertoire is Shrimp Piquant. Counting on 10 medium shrimp to a serving, there are 160 calories per serving.

Shrimp Piquant

1 quart water
1 lemon, sliced
1 bay leaf
6 peppercorns
2 pounds raw shrimp
2 tablespoons corn oil
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
1/4 teaspoon hot pepper sauce
Combine water, sliced lemon, bay leaf and peppercorns in large saucepan. Bring to a boil, add shrimp, turn heat low and simmer for 10 minutes or until shrimp are pink and tender. Drain, shell and clean and place in bowl.

Meanwhile combine remaining six ingredients. Mix well, pour over shrimp, cover and refrigerate for several hours, stirring once or twice to season evenly. Serve on lettuce as main course. Recipe makes five servings.

Camelot for Two' Given at Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — An ambitious two-person presentation of "Camelot" was given for the 12th time Friday by Mrs. Charles Sigvardt, Port Edwards, and Mrs. Roger O. Hornig, Wisconsin Rapids, at the First Methodist Church. A Silver Tea for the benefit of the Senior Methodist Youth Fellowship was held after the program.

The performance which includes musical highlights, dialogue and a number of duets from the Broadway play, began with a request by an Appleton Club for the pair to present a musical program. Mrs. Sigvardt, a graduate of the Lawrence College Conservatory of Music, and Mrs. Hornig, an alumna of the University of Wisconsin School of Music, approached "Camelot" with misgivings, as two of the principal roles are for men. The two laugh that they found courage for the attempt in their own first names. Mrs. Sigvardt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Campbell, Clintonville, is Carmen, and Mrs. Hornig, Portia.

Their Friday presentation included Mrs. Sigvardt's solos, "If Ever I Would Leave You", "Camelot", "What do the Simple Folks Do?", and other songs from the show. Mrs. Hornig, who accompanied Mrs. Sigvardt at the piano, also took part in dialogue and in duets.

Co-chairmen of the program were Mrs. Ralph Lendved and Mrs. Clarence Barker. Assisting at the tea table were Mrs. Nathan Wiese and Mrs. Bernard Kassilke.

"Camelot for Two" is the name of the program given by Mrs. Charles (Carmen) Sigvardt, standing, and Mrs. Roger O. (Portia) Hornig. The two have given their program of highlights from the Broadway play 12 times in the Fox Cities area. Below, at the silver tea held after the program in the lounge of the Behling Memorial Hall of the First Methodist Church, Clintonville, are Mrs. Ralph Lendved, Mrs. Nathan Wiese, Mrs. Clarence Barker and Mrs. Bernard Kassilke. Byrnes Claims 'Hampering' Set Up Mill

Says Company at Tomahawk Created
By Bureaucracy

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — Rep. John W. Byrnes (R-Green Bay) today charged that "bureaucratic hampering" was responsible for establishment of a new paper mill at Tomahawk, when, he said, "The tissue paper industry is currently operating at only 85 percent of capacity, while still supplying the current demand for paper products."

The congressman made this charge on the floor of the house, while introducing a "limiting" amendment to the area redevelopment bill, which authorizes expenditure of an estimated half-billion dollars to help build plants in economically depressed areas.

The amendment was defeated, however.

The Byrnes amendment would have prohibited, except in defense of security production, the ARA from loaning money to establish a certain manufacturing plant, such as the paper mill in Tomahawk, if the secretary of Commerce had determined that Thomson William K. Van Pelt, the industry itself was fulfilling

Homecoming Set At Hortonville This Weekend

HORTONVILLE — The 26th annual Hortonville Homecoming has been scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, it was announced by Commercial Club President Milan Soucek.

A Saturday afternoon kiddie parade will be followed in the evening by the Hortonville High School band and the Frank Seckar musical family. Sunday's schedule calls for several acrobatic and musical performances.

the demand for the product, still not operating at normal capacity.

"Shift Unemployment"
Byrnes said without enactment of his amendment, the ARA would use the taxpayer's money to shift unemployment from one part of the country to the other.

However, the ARA bill itself was rejected 204-209. Members of the Wisconsin House delegation voting for the measure were Reps. Robert W. Kastenmeier, Henry S. Reuss and Lester Johnson. Originally "paired" against the measure, Rep. Alvin E. O'Konski changed his position and answered "present," and said if he had not had the agreement on the "pair" he would have voted for the bill. However, his vote did not count.

Voting against it were Reps. Vernon C. Schadeberg, Vernon W. Thomson, William K. Van Pelt, the industry itself was fulfilling

Work Begins On Nuclear Power Plant

N.Y. Structure First Privately Owned Atomic Site in World

BY MARIA REYNOLDS
ASHFORD, N.Y. (AP) — The world's first privately owned nuclear fuel reprocessing plant may change Ashford from a tiny, rural town into a bustling city.

Construction of the $33-million plant, which will reprocess atomic fuel for peacetime industrial purposes, has begun on a 3,300-acre site in this community of 1,500.

It may take a decade or more but the State Labor Department unofficially estimates an urban potential population of 24,000.

The prospect of such growth is greeted with characteristic restraint by most residents of the quiet township.

"We're afraid we will see an end to the beauty of our rural area," says Marjorie Hollenbeck, a tearoom operator in neighboring West Valley Her partner, Marie Jones, is concerned that super highways, shopping plazas and heavy industry will spell the end of the pastoral life.

But Mark Bohlsone, who owns a prize herd of 40 Holstein cattle, intends to "see it through," and continue to improve his farm. "The same as I have done for 45 years."

Farmer Elton Zetwick, 70, says "it would cost me more to buy and live elsewhere."

Dr. Ralph Lumb, director of the Nuclear Research Center at the University of Buffalo, says dramatic growth of the area is likely. "The space age has opened our eyes and taught us all to be visionaries," he said.

44 Farms
The state acquired 44 farms and summer places for the site in June 1961. The township lost $117,676 in property taxes but the state will make it up.

The state office of Atomic Research and Development—ARDA—which will invest $8.5 million in acquiring the land and developing it as an atomic waste disposal center has fought to dispel fear of radiation.

The state intends to keep a herd of milking cows on the grounds, as evidence that animals and milk are not being harmed by radioactivity.

Two miles south, an engineer-contractor has bought 2,000 acres with space for golf club, 2,000 houses and a 150-acre lake impounded by a 75-foot dam. He figures the cost at $1.5 million.

More than 300 construction workers are expected at peak employment. When production begins in 1965, the atomic center will employ about 200, mostly technicians. It is anticipated that satellite industries and plants with nuclear fuel requirements will be attracted to the vicinity.

The facility will be operated by Nuclear Fuel Services Inc., of Washington. Its only stockholders are the W. R. Grace Co., which will invest $8 million, and American Machine and Foundry, which will put in $2 million.

Other Funds
Other funds include a $2-million research grant from the Empire State Atomic Development Associates, a group of seven privately owned public utilities, and $13.3 million in bank loans.

The 250-acre plant will receive, store and process used irradiated fuel discharged from power reactors. The purpose is to separate and recover uranium and plutonium.

Nuclear scientists expect that within 25 years, uses for the stored nuclear ashes—solid and liquid waste from the fuel—will be developed. Officials believe the waste can be stored in perpetuity in the salt beds deeply underlying the area.

The fuel is federally owned and leased to utilities. The plant will derive its income from processing fees and salvage of saleable by-products.

UW Student to Aid 4-H Agent

Sandra Jones Named

Hispaniola Scene of 2 Political Volcanoes

Both U. S., Castro Reds Have Stakes in Future of Haiti and Dominican Republic

BY ROBERT BERRELLEZ

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Two political volcanoes rumble side by side on this island which Christopher Columbus christened Hispaniola.

One of them, on the Haitian side of the border that divides the island, is on the verge of full eruption.

The other in the Dominican Republic is quieter, but may be potentially more explosive. Both the United States and the Castro Communists have stakes in the future.

What is troubling this tiny nation that only 18 months ago overthrew 31 years of tyranny?

"We're victims of our own romanticism," said a worried businessman. "We called in a poet to do a mechanic's job."

The allusion is to the election of Juan Bosch, an author-professor, to the presidency.

Troubles have been spiraling for silver-haired Bosch since he took office in February. Critics say the president's lack of business experience and his unfamiliarity with the national mood after 25 years' exile bring administrative incapacity and political naivete.

Prominent Communists and new recruits have returned in force from exile and have infiltrated important sectors, including the government.

A new constitution, termed "dangerously vague and ambiguous" by legal experts, is the latest source of worry, chiefly among property owners.

There also is widespread apprehension the left-center government has taken the first important steps to create a one-party dictatorship in the Mexican tradition.

Mario Read Vittini, a rising young lawyer-politician, says all these factors and the government's failure to define its policy have created a climate of fear and distrust.

As a result, he adds, investment capital has been frightened, job sources are disappearing and unemployment and internal unrest is increasing.

Young Nation

Sache Volman, a naturalized American believed to be Bosch's political mentor, said the president would never be anti-Communist openly. "This is a young, nationalist country," he declared.

A Latin-American diplomat felt that Bosch's "main preoccupation is that if he goes violently after the Communists he'll be immediately classified as a Yankee lackey."

Political opponents contend Bosch deliberately magnified the recent Haitian crisis while Congress, dominated by the official Revolutionary party, was ratifying the constitution.

Dominicans are particularly alarmed by three articles affecting private ownership.

Political Exiles

An earlier source of apprehension was the government's decision to permit the re-entry of all political exiles, including more than a score whom the former ruling state council barred as Communists.

A steamship company official says incoming shipments of merchandise have decreased from an average 1,000 tons a week to about 250.

"We don't know where this government is headed and we can't afford to take chances," said a clothing shop operator.

A young man dismissed from a government price inspection position complained: "To get a job or to keep one, you have to be a member of the official party. So, you go hungry or work for the Communists."

Jackie's Doctor Visits Maternity Facilities

HYANNIS, Mass. (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy's personal physician made a quick trip to Cape Cod Wednesday to inspect maternity facilities at Cape Cod Hospital and the Otis Air Force Base Hospital.

Dr. John Walsh was accompanied by Dr. Janet Travel, the president's personal physician. Mrs. Kennedy is expecting her third child.

After visiting the two hospitals, Dr. Walsh and Dr. Travel returned immediately to Washington by plane.

Today in History

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1776, Congress appointed John Adams, Roger Sherman, Benjamin Harrison, James Wilson and John Rutledge commissioners of the Board of War. It was the start to what now is the War Department.

On this date in 1786, the commander of the U.S. Army at the start of the Civil War, Winfield Scott, was born near Petersburg, Va.

In 1917, Gen. John J. Pershing and his staff reached Paris. In 1927, the American flag was first displayed from the right hand of the Statue of Liberty in honor of an individual. It was flown for Charles A. Lindbergh after his Atlantic flight.

In 1948, Babe Ruth was honored and his uniform—number three—was permanently retired.

In 1956, the U.S. Army adopted an official flag—after seven major wars and 145 campaigns.

Ten years ago ... The United Presbyterian Church's General Assembly approved preliminary plans for merging with the North and Southern Presbyterian Churches in the United States.

Five years ago ... the Soviet Union agreed to start talks at Geneva on the detection of nuclear explosions—at the same time expressing hope the conference would bring a suspension of nuclear weapons testing. One year ago ... Soviet Premier Khrushchev sent a message to President Kennedy, praising the agreement for a coalition government in Laos. Thought for today: We should look for someone to eat and drink with before looking for something to eat and drink. For dining alone is leading the life of a lion or wolf—Epicurus, philosopher of ancient Greece.

Reynolds Appoints C. L. Manson Head Of Insurance Unit

MADISON (AP) — Charles L. Manson was reappointed state insurance commissioner Tuesday by Gov. John W. Reynolds. The 64-year-old Manson was appointed to his first four year term by former Democratic Gov. Gaylord Nelson. His reappointment is subject to Senate confirmation. The job pays $13,500 a year.

Manson, a native of Wausau, is a University of Wisconsin graduate and worked as a newspaper reporter before entering the insurance field.

BIG JO

CHOCOLATE MINT BARS

(This is a Big Jo Presifted Flour recipe)

|---|-------------------------------------|
| 3/4 cup shortening | 1 tsp. vanilla |
| 4 squares (4 oz.) unsweetened chocolate | 1 1/2 cups BIG JO All-Purpose Flour |
| 2 cups brown sugar | 1 tsp. baking powder |
| 3 eggs | 1 tsp. salt |

MELT.....shortening and chocolate together in top of double boiler; remove from heat.

ADD.....sugar, eggs and vanilla and blend well.

SPOON.....flour (not sifted) into dry measuring cup. Level off and pour measured flour onto a square of waxed paper.

ADD.....baking powder and salt to flour (not sifted) and stir to blend.

ADD.....blended ingredients to chocolate mixture and mix well.

SPREAD.....evenly in greased 9 x 13-inch oblong pan.

BAKE.....at 350° for 25-30 minutes. Cool thoroughly.

MINT FROSTING:

|-----------------------|-----------------------------|
| 2 cups powdered sugar | 2 tbsp. milk or cream |
| 1/2 cup soft butter | 1/2 tsp. peppermint extract |

COMBINE all ingredients and mix until smooth. Tint with food coloring, if desired.

SPREAD.....on cooled chocolate base.

|---|----------------|
| 2 squares (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate | 2 tbsp. butter |
|---|----------------|

MELT.....chocolate and butter together over hot water. Remove from heat.

DRIBBLE.....over cooled, firm filling. Spread gently with spatula until surface is covered. Let cool until firm. Cut into bars.

It's an outstanding chocolate bar cookie... with a delicious mint frosting... and a dark chocolate glaze. Here's a cookie that's out of this world when made with Big Jo Flour.

For over 75 years Midwest homemakers have praised Big Jo as their secret of better baking. You will, too, once you've tried it. Big Jo Flour is presifted, so you need never sift again for anything you bake. Buy Big Jo at your grocer's now!

Red Germans Won't Get The Vacations They Want

BY GEORGE BOULTWOOD

BERLIN (AP) — About 17 million West Germans are expected to flock to vacations resorts abroad this summer. Millions more will vacation at West Germany's own resorts.

But most of the 17 million inhabitants of Communist East Germany will have to stay home. Hundreds of miles of concrete and barbed wire prevent them traveling to the West. Unless, that is, they care to risk being shot by border guards.

Travel to other Communist countries is reserved for the privileged few because of shortage of foreign exchange. Facilities in East Germany are completely inadequate to deal with the numbers who would like to have a break in the country or by the sea.

Vacation travel is tightly controlled by the state and preference is given to the best workers or most loyal party supporters. Private travel is virtually impossible.

Besides, most spare beds in vacation areas are requisitioned by trade unions or the official travel organization. Priority at camping sites is given to youth groups or other mass organizations. Inhabitants of resort areas are allowed to put up only their nearest relatives.

Most vacations are organized by the Trade Union Federation. But it has only 1,260,000 "vacation checks" to give out for the whole year to its 6,300,000 members. That works out roughly at one for every five workers.

Controlled Vacations

The federation owns 400 vacation hostels and rents another 812.

Combined Locks Grade Students Earn Honors

COMBINED LOCKS — Grade school students at the village school were honored at an awards program recently, according to Wayne Hull, principal.

The Little Chute American Legion award for top student went to Janet Jonen while John Davidson won the Kimberly American Legion award for the second highest scholastic average.

Patrol cadets receiving commendation for outstanding service were Joseph Malsavage, Carolyn Hubers and Barbara Opsteen. The latter was also honored as the most outstanding band student. An award for having the most improved attitude toward school work went to Jerry Saurbier.

Kimberly Kiwanis Attempting to Form Golden Ager Club

KIMBERLY — The Kiwanis Club is planning to organize a Golden Age Club in the community and will call a meeting of interested citizens within a few weeks.

After a group of eligible members, persons over 60, are organized, this group will take over responsibility to complete the organizational program. The Kiwanis have arranged to have a side room at Jerry's Lanes utilized for meetings or afternoon card sessions or get together.

Members making initial arrangements are Robert Van Thull and William Van Toul.

Supreme Court To Hear Cases On Remapping

Nine New Yorkers Say Legal Rights Curbed By Borough

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has agreed to consider a series of reapportionment cases, both legislative and congressional, from the states of New York, Virginia, Maryland, Alabama and Georgia.

Arguments on them will be heard in the court's fall term beginning in October.

The cases involve:

—An attack by radio station WMCA of New York City on constitutionality of apportionment of New York State's legislative districts.

WMCA contended in appealing to the high tribunal that the state had apportioned both houses of its legislature "in intentional disregard of the distribution of population."

Nine Voters
—A contention by nine voters of Manhattan Borough in New York City that their constitutional rights were violated in a redrawing of boundaries of the four congressional districts in the borough.

—Efforts by two voters in Atlanta, Georgia's Fulton County, to compel a reapportionment of Georgia congressional districts.

—A review of a Maryland Court of Appeals decision that the Maryland Senate need not be reapportioned.

—A review of a lower court decision that 1962 reapportionment acts of the Virginia Legislature are unconstitutional.

—A review of a temporary plan for reapportionment of the Alabama Legislature ordered by a three-judge federal court in Montgomery.

The three-judge court rejected reapportionment legislation enacted by the Alabama Legislature and ordered the temporary plan into effect for the November 1962 election.

The three-judge court decision, announced July 21, 1962, was the first instance in which a federal tribunal had reapportioned a legislature following the Supreme

To Your Good Health

Nerves Often Cause Rapid Beating Heart

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband wants to know if there is such a thing as a "nervous heart"? He was told he has one. — C. F. S.

This is a term sometimes applied to a rapid heart, and particularly in a person of anxious or high-strung temperament.

Keep in mind that the fast heart may be in response to some temporary stimulus. It may also be a continuing condition.

Fright can speed the heart rate. Nothing unusual about that. Doctors sometimes note a speeding up when examining a patient. He or she is tense, palms and armpits perspire profusely. Blood pressure may be slightly elevated. Some patients blush easily. This type of rapid heart beat is not unusual and is not alarming if that's all there is to it.

On the other hand, some patients have a rapid heart beat under ordinary circumstances. Causes can be overactive thyroid, anemia, too much stimulation from excessive coffee or tobacco. In this regard, remember that "excessive" for one person may not be excessive for another.

The continuously rapid heart calls for investigating the causes. Generally, they usually can be corrected once they are identified.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have a buzzing noise in my ear which came on suddenly, and also a pulsation which seems to be worse when I turn my head to either side. I have had had hearing for many years, and it seems to be getting worse. What kind of a doctor should I go to? — H. A. B.

You have two reasons for seeing an ear specialist: first, your poor hearing; second, the sudden onset of buzzing. Both conditions

Court's ruling of March 26, 1962 on the issue. The high tribunal then said the distribution of seats in state legislatures is subject to constitutional scrutiny of the federal courts.

may be helped by surgery—possibly a stapedectomy. You might want to read my booklet, "Ear Noises, Their Causes and Cures." (To receive it, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper.)

STAR DASH
Dear Dr. Molner: At the age of 40 I had a complete hysterectomy and have been a nervous wreck ever since. Does one get completely over such an operation? Does one get over it faster when an ovary or part of one is left? What is the purpose of that? I take medication for hot flashes and dizziness—MRS. D.

Yes, you get over the operation, but the amount of time varies from individual to individual. Removal of the ovaries abruptly displaces organs that for years have been providing certain types of hormones to the system, and you have to adjust to a new hormone balance.

Reason for leaving an ovary (if it is healthy) is to permit menopause to come gradually and naturally at the normal time. The closer you are to menopause age—usually around 45, give or take a few years—the less point there is in trying to save an ovary for this purpose.

The process of adjusting to the new hormone balance seems to be extremely easy for some women, but quite upsetting to others. And the more they worry about it, the more upset they become.

Dear Dr. Molner: Would overweight affect a girl's ability in school? She is 18, about 40 pounds overweight and was very good until the 12th grade, which she had to repeat. She tires very fast. — MRS. E. L.

Anyone 40 pounds too heavy at 18 is bound to slow down, and it could account for a sudden change in her thinking abilities. Of course she should control her weight, but I'd look farther in this case. Have your doctor check for any physical abnormality, especially for low thyroid activity. (Tension over school problems could be a factor in causing her to overeat, too.)

Of all the problems that pediatricians encounter in children, pinworm is the commonest. To learn the newest methods of treatment for this pest, write for the booklet, "The Commonest Pest, Pinworm," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Marathon County Man Joins in Bid for Democratic Position

MOSINEE (AP) — Francis A. Rondeau, 46, chairman of the Marathon County Democratic unit, has joined two other men in considering bidding for the chairmanship of the Wisconsin Democratic party.

Rondeau, a member of the Wisconsin Exposition Board, said Tuesday he had his candidacy

"under consideration." He said he would run if given sufficient assurance of support.

Also considering seeking the post being surrendered by Patrick Lucey of Madison are Assemblyman Frank Nikolay of Abbotsford and Robert J. Beaudry of Milwaukee.

The only announced candidate is J. Louis Hanson of Mellen, who said he planned to begin a campaign tour today. He has the backing of Lucey and other Democratic leaders.

Fear That Son Would Be Left Alone Prompted Killing, Says Worker

WISCONSIN RAPIDS (AP) — A 60-year-old cranberry bog worker told police he shot and killed his arthritic son because he feared the son would be left alone with no one to take care of him.

Hiram Sickles Sr. is charged with first degree murder in the shooting of his son, Hiram Jr., at their home Sunday.

At the arraignment Tuesday before Judge Byron Conway, Dist. Atty. Thomas McLean said Hiram Jr. worked part time as a laborer in the cranberry bogs but at times was barely able to walk because of his arthritis. Sickles told officers that he had had two heart attacks and that his wife was dead. "In his own mind," McLean said, "He thought it was a mercy killing."

Lew Burdette Stops Mets on 3 Hits, 9-0

Jim O'Toole Wins 11th Game for Reds; Dodgers Take Lead

McCovey Leads Giants to 3-1 Triumph Over Chicago

BY JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

That star strutting at the head of baseball's big parade is Jim O'Toole, who couldn't even make the rear ranks as a kid pitcher. Cincinnati's prize southpaw, bounced out of an amateur league in his teens because of a scattergun arm and shunned by several teams in the majors after tryouts, has added another victory as the biggest winner in the big leagues.

Firing a three-hitter, O'Toole pitched the Reds over Pittsburgh 3-0 Wednesday night for his 11th triumph.

It was the 26-year-old left-hander's second shutout in a row and fifth of the season—and it gave Cincinnati a vital boost in the National League race. The Reds are in fifth place, but only 2½ games off the pace.

Slender Lead
The Los Angeles Dodgers regained a slender lead with a 9-1 rout of Houston that put them .002 points ahead of San Francisco and St. Louis. The Giants beat fourth-place Chicago 3-1 on Willie McCovey's two homers and Bob Bolin's strong pitching, while Philadelphia knocked the Cardinals out of first, 6-2.

In the other NL game, Lew Burdette, Milwaukee's expendable right-hander, threw a three-hitter and Hank Aaron slugged in five runs in the Braves' 9-0 romp against the New York Mets.

O'Toole struck it rich with the pitching-poor Reds when he was signed to a $50,000 bonus six years ago. Now in his fifth full season with the club, he shows a current record of 11-3 and a earned run average of 2.07.

He again showed his control improvement in blanking the Pirates. He did not allow a single walk.

Frank Robinson keyed the Reds' decisive two-run fourth inning by doubling in Vada Pinson, stealing third and scoring on a force play. Pinson singled in the other run in the fifth. Earl Francis was the loser.

Maury Wills continued his spectacular batting for the Dodgers, rapping out three singles and a double against the Colts for 16 hits in his last 23 tries. Tommy Davis went 3-for-3 in the Dodgers' 13-hit assault, Ron Fairly knocked in three runs, and Dick Tracewski hit his first major league homer.

Lefty Johnny Podres was tagged for 10 hits but struck out nine and did not allow a walk. He's now 4-5, while loser Don Nottebart, who hasn't won since his no-hitter against Philadelphia May 17, dropped to 5-4.

McCovey whacked his homers after the 100-mile race in Milwaukee Sunday.

Henry Banks, director of competition for USAC, said the suspension was automatic if fines are not paid within 48 hours and would be lifted when the fine is paid.

Banks said the suspension was not connected with Hurtubise's charges of "terrible officiating" at USAC sponsored events. Hurtubise made the charges in Milwaukee after he had been fined for pulling ahead of the pole car at the start of the race.

Banks said he had been unable to locate Hurtubise to inform him of the suspension and to order him to Indianapolis to explain his charges. There was a report that Hurtubise was hunting in Canada.

Braves Sign Prep Pitching Standout From St. Paul
MILWAUKEE (AP)—The signing of Robert R. Williams Jr. of St. Paul, Minn., one of the nation's most sought-after high school pitchers, was announced Wednesday by the Milwaukee Braves.

Williams, who received a bonus, will be assigned to the Braves' Greenville Club in the Class A West Carolina League.

The 18-year-old right-hander, who weighs 190 and is 6-feet-5, had a 6-0 record this spring, pitching one no-hit, no-run game and four other shutouts.

ARD-Foxes Clinic to be Held Saturday
The Appleton Recreation Department and the Fox Cities Foxes will stage a clinic for boys Saturday morning at Goodland Field.

Boys who take part in any baseball program in Appleton are invited to attend the instructional sessions, according to ARD officials.

The Issue at Tuscaloosa

Gov. George Wallace, in confronting the United States marshals attempting to register two Negro students at the University of Alabama, relied on two ideas which have been debated for more than a century in this country. They relate to the very nature of the Union.

The governor protested that the federal government—or as he preferred to say, the central government—was illegally invading the authority of the “sovereign” state of Alabama. He quoted the Tenth Amendment to the United States Constitution which states that “the powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.” The ghost of John C. Calhoun was walking at Tuscaloosa this week—or at least was talking through Gov. Wallace.

It was Calhoun's contention that sovereignty is absolute and not divisible—like chastity it either is or isn't present. The states, he said, are sovereign and the Federal Union is merely a confederation of these sovereign states. The United States Constitution is simply a compact among the states. Laws of the federal government can be nullified by the sovereign states and the Constitution itself is not binding on the states.

Calhoun's argument was lost in the Civil War, but the concept of “dual federalism” continued. This holds that the federal government and the separate states are two mutually exclusive systems of sovereignty, each supreme in their respective spheres and without authority over the other in those spheres. But this concept, too, faded away as the federal government began to exercise more power through interpretations of the Constitution's interstate commerce clause.

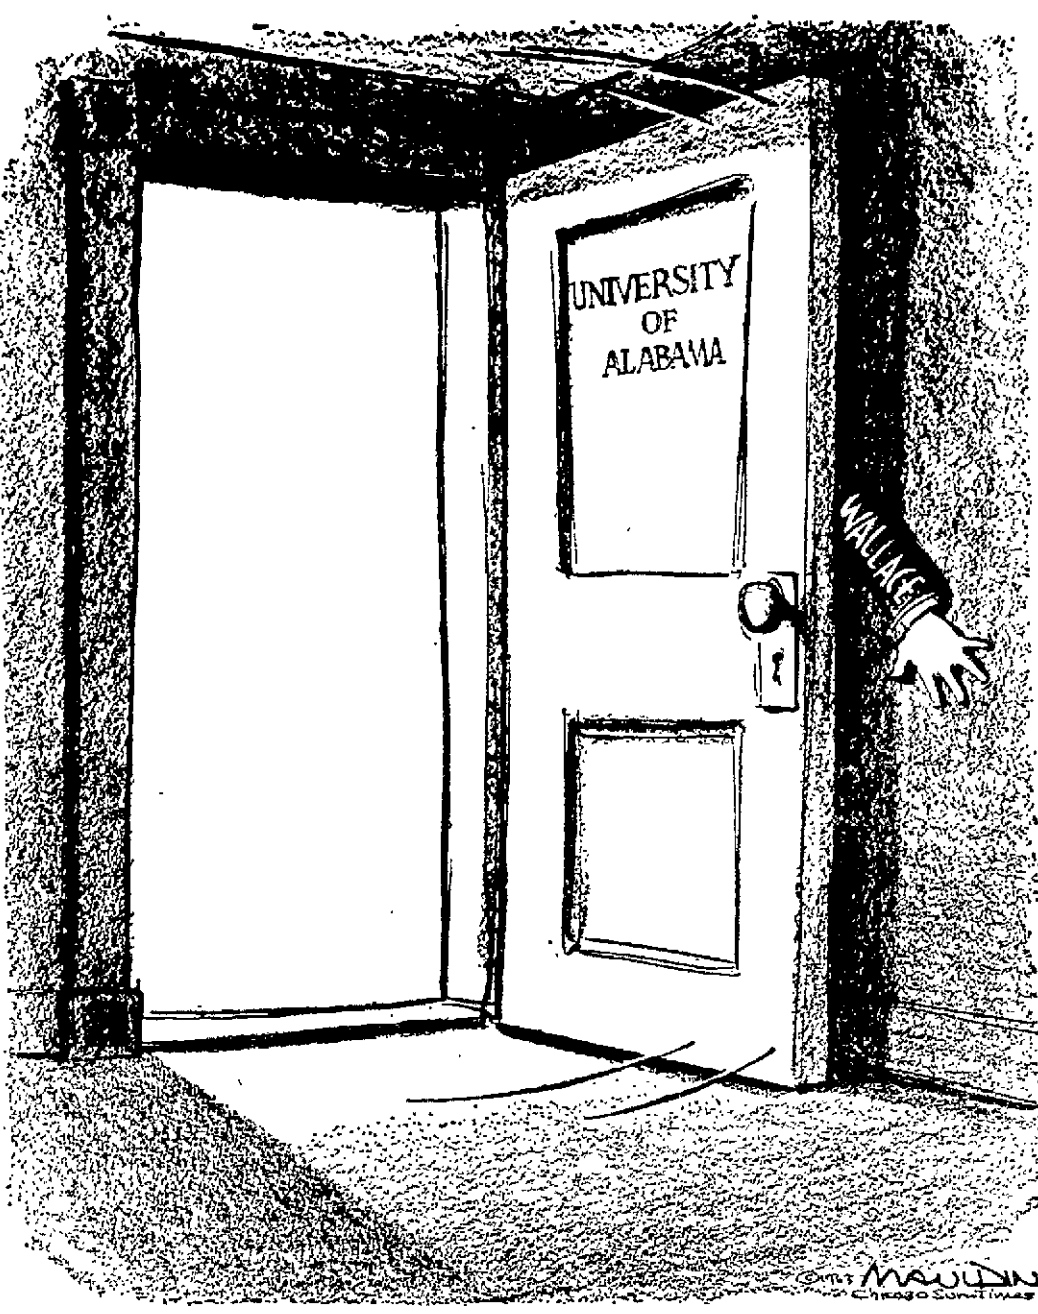

It is technically correct to say that “original sovereignty” still resides in the 50 states. But those states, by adopting or adhering to the Constitution, have given away an important part of that sovereignty to the central government. Most importantly, they have agreed that the rights of the people as citizens of the United States are supreme, and cannot be abridged by the states themselves. This was the crux of the debates over “nullification” in Calhoun's time; this was the central issue in the Civil War; this fact, amazingly in 1963, Gov. Wallace still refuses to face.

We heartily encourage the idea of different customs and traditions in this nation, but we are all Americans. Where Gov. Wallace was woefully wrong was in confusing the right of a state to run its own school system, with what is not the right of a state to run that system so that the constitutional rights of Americans are denied. The United States Supreme Court, in holding that segregation in public schools violated the Fourteenth Amendment, determined that the University of Alabama would not bar Negroes any more than the University of Wisconsin could inflict cruel and unusual punishment on students, or quarter ROTC members in homes without consent, or deny a student the right to go to church.

Certainly the line between federal and state authority is difficult to define. There is a division on the United States Supreme Court over when state police power infringes on individual rights, and which takes precedence. The current agitation for an amendment to the Constitution establishing a Court of the States to supersede the Supreme Court is a continuation of this old dispute.

But Gov. Wallace—and those who stand with him—should read once more the Constitution of the United States. It does not create a loose confederation of states as did the old Articles of Confederation. It starts out with the words, “We, the People of the United States.” As far back as Chief Justice John Marshall this was interpreted as a popular basis for a federal government, not a loose compact among states.

Huge Deer Population Endangers Motorists, Damages Farm Crops

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I can sympathize with the girls who were upset with the deer episode. I, too, love animals and don't like to see them mistreated or destroyed needlessly.

When some animals become too numerous and thus become a problem something must be done. The deer has reached this stage.

A motorist isn't safe on the highways from dusk until daylight. Daily the papers carry stories of deer causing cars to be wrecked, as well as personal injury and even loss of life.

And to the farmer they have become a big nuisance to say nothing of the damage they cause. They tear down the fences letting the cattle roam in forbidden territory. The farmer must chase cows and repair fences to say nothing of the damaged crops and the risk of sick cattle when they overeat.

When the crops were coming up you could see herds of eight and ten and even more playing tag in the fields. Now they come out in broad daylight to eat in the fields of corn and oats. When you get within a hundred feet of them they calmly walk from the field. It isn't right that they should be allowed to take what the farmer fences to keep his cattle from eating.

Then from early fall till the end of deer season come the cars with the spotlights shining for deer. On the quiet country roads, where the rest of the year we find only a few cars at night, this becomes very annoying.

But when deer season arrives (and the farmer does decide to hunt) the farmer is met at the edge of his posted land by the non-farming hunter who has just ransacked the woods while the farmer did the morning chores. He greets the farmer with “Well, it is all yours now.”

As many a person has said, “There ought to be a bounty on them.” And as I sit resting my tired feet after chasing deer from the oats field I heartily agree!

We are responsible for our livestock. The state should be responsible for the deer. They should be responsible for the damage done to cars and to crops.

I would suggest that there be a law to permit the motorist to claim a deer he killed with his automobile, but that he must report it to the proper authorities.

Also that the farmer who depends on his crops as a means of living, (be it for cattle feed, or the cash crop) be given a permit to take one deer of any sex prior to the hunting season without a license fee. And this should also be registered with the proper authorities.

This would be a small payment for what we are required to put up with.

Psychiatry Deserves No Privileges

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Your editorial, “Psychiatry and the Lunatic Fringe,” equaling all criticism of psychiatry with the simple or bigoted, as it does, completely ignores the criticism directed at psychiatry by many intelligent individuals who see in the legal powers of psychiatry a denial of individual responsibility and liberty.

According to Dr. Szoz, himself a psychiatrist, psychiatry endangers liberty in many ways. Two of the most important evolve around the legal powers possessed by the profession. Only a psychiatrist may deprive you of your freedom when not convicted of a crime. Only psychiatrists are empowered to declare (by reason of opinion) a person convicted of a crime as unfit to stand trial thus depriving him of right of trial as guaranteed by the Sixth Amendment.

Quoting Robert Thornton in an article on individual responsibility “Now it is all very well to declare a man wrong if he opposes, say, the federal income tax, but it is preposterous and highly dangerous to judge him insane or mentally incompetent because he does so.”

The final paragraph in your editorial leads one to think you consider psychiatry, floridation, and who knows what else, as beyond criticism—“These kind of attacks should be smashed down whenever they arise.” One must ask, by whom? And by what authority? And are certain aspects of our society set above criticism or opposition?

Legislature's Passage Of Voting Machine Bill Was Pleasant Surprise

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The legislature is capable of actions on nearly every calendar that contain surprises, and occasionally there are pleasant surprises in its daily output of roll calls.

So it was the other day when the state senate, quite without any such expectation, decided to concur in an assembly-approved bill which, when it is signed by Gov. Reynolds, will require every municipality over 10,000 population in this state to install voting machines not later than the autumn elections of 1966.

The population limitation may appear to critical citizens to be a strange one, for it is manifestly as important to count the votes accurately in a small town as in a city, and it is obviously as desirable in ascertaining the result within a reasonable period after the polls have closed.

This was an example of the political pragmatism that so often characterizes legislative strategy. A universal requirement for voting machines would have gone down the drain, as have such bills so often in the past. The rural force in the legislature remains powerful, although it is not always visible. The hope of these sponsors is that some day this requirement can be extended to the smaller jurisdictions. The tactic now, and it was a wise one, was to get a “foot in the door,” to so speak.

THE OPPOSITION

It is hard for the objective critic of the political system to maintain any semblance of patience with the opponents of the voting machine legislation.

The bill was denounced, for example, as a violation of the principle of municipal home rule. Perhaps it was such a violation. But it also was an example of the imposition of state controls in the default of local action. To say that a guarantee of accurate, honest and speedy counting of votes in public elections is a violation of home rule is equal to saying that requiring a municipality to prosecute crime or to put out fires or to punish thieves is a violation of home rule.

Requiring cities to have local health departments, or public schools, or public relief offices might conceivably run against the grain of some home rule advocates also, but it is done, nevertheless.

The principal resistance, and it was quite angry, came from the representatives of metropolitan Milwaukee, of all places. They lamented the forced cost upon their city budget. Milwaukee boasts about many municipal services that other Wisconsin jurisdictions feel they cannot afford, or don't need. Objections to voting machines on the ground of their cost tend to ring somewhat hollow, under the circumstances. There were also hints that some of the people of Milwaukee, probably the ethnic immigrant groups of the older generation, don't want voting machines because they may tend to confuse the voter who has not used them before. But again the objection strains credulity. Such objections have been quickly disproved by experience in cities with voting machines.

MC ESSY TRIUMPH

Passage by both houses of the voting machine bill is a kind of personal triumph for Assemblyman McEssy of Fond du Lac, who made the bill a major personal project in this legislative session after he failed to get majority support for it two years ago.

What follows is not intended to be critical or disparaging, but to illuminate the universal involvement of economic special interest groups in the enactment of even the most innocent laws in modern times. As in virtually every other major decision of legislatures nowadays, there was a lobby involved on McEssy's side — as there were lobbies against him. The voting machine manufacturers liked the idea of such a law, and made their wishes known. The chances are that they didn't change any votes, in this instance. McEssy's single-minded personal campaign, and the abrupt decision of a majority of legislators to face the issue brought this advance in electoral administration in Wisconsin which every serious student of Wisconsin government has advocated for a generation.

Strictly Personal

High Intelligence, Little Sense Exasperating

BY SIDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: Nobody is more exasperating and frustrating to deal with over the long pull, than the person with high intelligence and very little sense — especially since the two so often go together.

The human animal is so peculiarly constituted that, for example, a father would willingly give up his life to save his child from a burning building, but not his afternoon of golf to visit the zoo — yet it is the small sacrifices, multiplied many times, that give love more meaning than the heroic gesture in a crisis.

The miserable poor drink to forget what they are not; and the miserable rich drink to forget what they are.

Pressing one's advantage too strongly in a quarrel when one is right, tends, oddly enough to make one wrong — for the smugness and self-satisfaction that usually accompany rightness are often worse sins than the error of being wrong.

The stale metaphor of the “ladder” has always seemed to me quite inappropriate for describing the ascent to success — which is much more like mountain climbing, and consists of many lateral movements, some drop-backs, and more falling boulders than anyone is told of.

Why is it that the same woman who loved to walk bare-headed in the rain with us during the carefree courtship days won't walk a half-block to the car in fair weather after the marriage?

When reading obscene literature is considered merely weak, and not wicked, only then will it lose its appeal: for the psychological fact is that obscenity is created for the under-sexed, just as the Peeping Tom is always a man who cannot achieve gratification in a normal masculine manner.

Everybody is part physician, just as everybody is part lawyer: health and justice are two subjects that nobody ever thinks himself disqualified to pontificate about. (And perhaps part of the high fees charged by doctors and lawyers is unconsciously exacted as punishment for this lay insolence.)

The people, said James Harrington, “Are deceived by names, but not by things”; and perhaps this is why Confucius declared that calling things by their right names was the first and fundamental task for a well-ordered society.

Bitterness shows in a woman's eyes much more than in a man's; he reveals his discontents more by his actions, she by her expression at rest when she believes no one is observing her.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

One thing about Britain's Conservative government. Nobody can accuse it of not taking care of the working girl.

Kennedy's trip to the West Coast and Hawaii was good politics. In fact, the closer we get to the '64 election, the better the people will live a man who isn't too close to that crowd in Washington.

Now you know why De Gaulle blackballed Britain's membership in the Common Market. He didn't want to get mixed up with the kind of company some of the British leaders were keeping.

Big breakthrough in pesticides: One company has invented a cookout repellent.

We wouldn't have to worry so much about civil rights if more of the right people were civil.

Mr. Lucey and the Democrats

Patrick J. Lucey, the strong-willed young politician who has been the commander during the last half dozen years of what is doubtless the strongest Democratic party campaign machine ever developed in this state, has decided that he will retire from that job.

There is no indication anywhere that his decision was based on anything except his own wish and his personal circumstances. Two years ago there were those Democrats, including Gaylord Nelson who then held the powerful office of governor, who were so cool toward him that they were making motions about dismissing him from the organization command. But the resourceful Lucey survived that rebellion, and this year there was a consensus in the party that he could have another term in the office if he desired it.

Why should a man who so obviously enjoys place and power, and the ebb and flow of political battle, voluntarily surrender the top office in his party machinery?

The explanation is probably a combination of personal fatigue and strategy. A state party chairmanship is an enervating assignment. It is also unrewarding in mone-etary terms. Wisconsin tradition has opposed remuneration of political organization officers, in both parties.

Mr. Lucey strikes us as a man who has a private blueprint for political advancement, and he is shrewd enough to appreciate that long-continued possession of a controversial state command post gradually erodes support and prestige. He can retire with some degree of satisfaction and claim to success today. During his time the Democratic party has been more successful than in any similar period in this century. His retirement now is attended by some degree of glory, in party terms. Another term in the chairmanship might bring reverses.

It is said that Mr. Lucey has his eye on the Wisconsin seat on the Democratic national committee. That is a plausible interpretation. But beyond that, we would surmise, Mr. Lucey has notions about holding public office under his own name. He has shown the energy and aptitude out of which successful campaigners are made. While we would have substantial reservations about his philosophy and program, candor compels the acknowledgment that men of lesser attainments have been raised to high office hereabouts lately.

Foolish Decision

The annual Badger Boys' State sponsored by Wisconsin's American Legion posts is designed to show outstanding high school boys ways in which their leadership abilities can be used and how the democratic process works. The boys are chosen between their junior and senior years by the faculties and administrations at their own high schools. In general, the week long conference is stimulating and inspirational.

But this year the whole meeting hit a low not only in public relations but in its aim. A boy was turned down by officials simply because he was blind.

It appears that the decision was made hastily and then the authorities somehow decided they had to stick with it in any case. Excuses were lame and fumbling and centered vaguely around the possible strangeness of the boy's Seeing Eye dog to the campus. The explanations not only demonstrated a disturbing ignorance of the training of blind people and their dogs; they showed a complete lack of understanding, in the long run, of the purpose of Badger Boys' State. Finally the decision was reversed and the boy was invited—but the damage was done.

The young men who go to the campus as delegates—and the young man who was turned down — could show their elders something about the abilities of the handicapped and the real workings of democracy. Many blind persons have built useful and successful careers, in business, in the professions, in fact in practically every vocation. Some of them have done so in the field of public service—Supv. Herbert Pitz of Oshkosh is an example—which is the very area on which Badger Boys' State concentrates.

The only good thing that can happen from this distasteful episode is that those who are in charge—and those who cooperate in choosing young men to attend—may reconsider what exactly are the aims of the conference and the criteria of good citizenship. At this point the conference sponsors have failed miserably to establish principles to which young Americans can hitch their space craft.

William Fisher, Appleton student at Shattuck School, Friesland, Minn., was named the outstanding cadet of the year. He previously had been elected president of the sophomore class for the coming school term.

The Menasha Bluejays, winners of the Mid-Eastern conference baseball championship, completed their 1953 season with a 14-1 record. Their only loss was to the Kaukauna Ghosts, state champions, in the finals of the sectional tournament. In conference competition they made a 7-0 mark, defeating every team in the league. Members of the team included Junior Ropella, Greg Ropella, Tom Kosloski, Vic Stenson, Rud Tschirgi, Elmer Burr, Jack Wippich, Bob Miller, Tom Staniak, Boh O'Brien, Jack Konezke, Jack Stepan-ski, Bernie Konezke and Clem Massey. Yankees Defeat Baltimore, 3-2

Angels Split With White Sox On Bob Turley's One-Hitter

BY MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees took a deep bow today in the direction of former teammate Bob Turley, a pitcher they dispatched to the Los Angeles Angels when his pop gun ran out of POP.

The 32-year-old right-hander gave the Yankees a boost into the American League lead Wednesday night by shoving Chicago out with a brilliant one-hit effort in a 5-0 victory over the White Sox.

That gave the Angels a split of a two-night doubleheader — Chicago's John Buzhardt hurled a three-hit 3-1 first game triumph and dropped the White Sox .001 points behind New York. The Yankees reached the top rung with a 3-2, 10-inning triumph over sagging Baltimore.

Indians Hot

Meanwhile, Cleveland's hottest-in-the-league Indians rolled to their sixth consecutive victory with a costly 12-6 triumph over Detroit in which they lost outstanding rookie outfielder Vic Davillio for at least four weeks with a broken right forearm.

In other games, Boston used the home run punch to down Washington 5-3 and Kansas City and Minnesota played ricochet in splitting a doubleheader. The A's pounded 17 hits for a 12-4 victory, then the Twins lashed 13 for an 8-1 triumph.

Turley, sold to the Angels on a condition basis in which Los Angeles could send him back if the Bullets was really spent, has been slow coming around for his new club. But there was nothing slow about him against the White Sox as he posted the 100th victory

Bob Birkholz Hurls No-Hit Game in LL

Bob Birkholz hurled the Breakfast Optimists to a 9-0 no-hit no-run victory over S.S.A.C. Wednesday night at the McKinley School diamond.

Birkholz struck out seven and walked none in registering the first no-hitter of the young Appleton Little League season.

Dick Unke and Birkholz each had two hits in the attack, with one of Unke's hits being a home run.

St. Joseph vs. Trinity.

Kenny Lang hurled a 3-hitter in leading St. Pius to its fifth straight American Church League victory, a 6-0 triumph over St. Joseph.

In other league games, Congregational blanked First Methodist, 13-0 as Lou Rogers twirled a 1-hitter; Zion No. 1 topped St. Bernadette, 8-5 and Trinity nipped St. Mary's, 6-3. In a makeup game played Monday night, First Methodist edged Trinity, 3-2.

St. Pius scored a pair of runs in the first, second and seventh innings against St. Joseph. Lang kept the three hits scattered in different innings and walked only three batters. Dick Ciske led the winners 5-hit attack with 2-for-2.

Congregational took over sole possession of second place by scoring in every inning except the sixth against First Methodist. Doug Robertson belted a 3-run homer in the fourth and Rogers' hurling did the rest. Larry Nystrom had the only hit for Methodist.

Zion broke a 3-3 ball game open with four runs in the fifth inning. Bill Brandt, the winning hurler, helped his own cause with a home run and Don Goehring had 2-for-3 and batted in a pair of runs. Bob Prusynski was the losing hurler.

Trinity built up a 6-0 lead over St. Mary's despite getting only four hits off the losing hurler, Bill Geenen. Zion came back to score three runs but could not close the gap.

FVGC Tourney For President's Cup Will Open

Initial Round In Match Play Starts June 21

KAUKAUNA — Entries for the President's Cup tournament at Fox Valley Golf Club are now being accepted by Lou Glaser, club pro, entries to close June 20.

Competition is limited to shareholders with 10 recorded scores. All entry fee money will be returned in prizes with the championship trophy to be donated by Francis Demerath, club president.

The tournament will start on a match play basis, nine holes with extra sudden death holes as needed. First round matches will start June 21 and must be completed by June 29. Second round matches must be played by July 6 and third round by July 13. This will complete qualifying rounds.

Handicaps will be adjusted and a field of either 16 or 20 golfers will be ready for the finals to be played the afternoon of July 27. Finalists will play 18 holes with total score minus recorded handicap to determine the championship. Golf prizes will go to runners-up.

Presentation of the cup and awarding of prizes will take place at a party the evening of the finals. Tournament committee members in charge are Monroe Schneider, Lorenz Mayer, Norbert

Season Giant-Dodger Series Could Draw $2-Million Gate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In a year when baseball attendance generally is in decline, the 18-game season series between the San Francisco Giants and Los Angeles Dodgers could conceivably draw a $2-million gate.

The Giants and Dodgers have split their first eight games this year and are only two percentage points farther apart than they were when the season opened. If they can keep staggering their losses, they should keep making staggering profits.

In their first eight games, the Giants and Dodgers have drawn 372,809 spectators. Figuring conservatively that the average fan pays $2.50 for his ticket, the gate for eight games comes to $932,622.50.

Would Draw $38.818

If this average persisted, the season series would draw $38.818 and the gross gate would come to $2,097,043.00.

In 21 games last year, including the three in the National League playoffs, the Giants and Dodgers drew 900,957—more than eight of the other 18 major league teams drew at home all season.

Juan Marichal pitched his first shutout of the season and Willie McCovey drove in all the runs with a sixth-inning homer as the Giants squared the season series Tuesday night by defeating the Dodgers 3-0 before 53,436.

off Bob Buhl, with one on in the first inning and none on in the third. Bolin, ace reliever turned starter, limited the Cubs to four hits and struck out 14—highest for a Giant pitcher since the club moved west from New York in 1958.

Bolin is unbeaten in three decisions. Buhl's mark is an even 6-5.

The Phils had three-run innings off Cardinals starter Ron Taylor and veteran reliever Bobby Shantz, as they beat St. Louis for the 12th time in the last 16 meetings between the teams. Tony Gonzalez and Clay Dalrymple batted across two runs each for Philadelphia.

Art Mahaffey ended a personal six-game losing string with relief help from John Bozzer and won his third against eight setbacks.

Birdie Makes Illegal Change of Pitchers

BY GORDON BEARD

BALTIMORE (AP) — Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Cleveland Indians made an illegal pitching change during a fit of emotion Tuesday night which led to a wild baseball thubarb and an official protest by the Baltimore Orioles.

The wonder of it all was that the four umpires permitted a change which clearly violates the rules.

However, the mistake was rectified after Oriole Manager Bully Hitchcock showed the arbiters the error of their ways.

Here was the situation: After Baltimore scored one run in the ninth inning on three singles and a bases loaded walk, Tebbetts set in Bob Allen to replace starting pitcher Jim Grant. That change was all right.

But after Allen had thrown two straight balls to Jim Gentile, Tebbetts charged out of the dugout, waving his arms in anger.

He signaled toward the bullpen, and umore John Rice waved in reliever Ted Abernathy. This violated rule 3.05 (b) which says a change during a fit of emotion Tuesday night which led to a wild baseball thubarb and an official protest by the Baltimore Orioles.

The wonder of it all was that the four umpires permitted a change which clearly violates the rules.

However, the mistake was rectified after Oriole Manager Bully Hitchcock showed the arbiters the error of their ways.

Here was the situation: After Baltimore scored one run in the ninth inning on three singles and a bases loaded walk, Tebbetts set in Bob Allen to replace starting pitcher Jim Grant. That change was all right.

shall direct the proper pitcher to return to the game.

The rule also says that if an improper pitcher is permitted to pitch—in this case Abernathy—"any play that results is legal."

"I was stupid," Tebbetts said after the game. "What a blankety-blank dope I messed up I simply forgot."

"When I saw Hitchcock out on the field, I said 'what's he arguing about?'"

Then Joe Adcock, sitting on the bench, said "doesn't he have to pitch? All of a sudden, wham, I realized what happened."

"They say there's always a first time, and this is my first time on this rule," Tebbetts said. "I guess I'll go another 30 years before I do it again."

The umpires contended rule 3.05 (c) covered the situation and said the whole matter was "just an oversight," Tebbetts said since the error was corrected, he could see no basis for a protest.

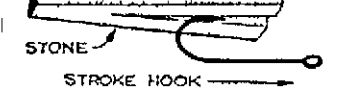

Hitchcock, however, said he also would protest that Abernathy twice was allowed to warm up violating American League regulation 2.20 which limits a reliever's preparatory pitches to five.

After the game, Tebbetts kept outsiders from the clubhouse until he apologized to Allen in front of the other players.

Winners Listed In Pike Contest At Stockbridge

STOCKBRIDGE — The first two winners in the Stockbridge Summer Pike Derby were announced this week by Emil Kufahl, public affairs director of the Stockbridge Community Chamber of Commerce.

Tony Brunner, Appleton, won honors for the week ending May 31 with a fish taken off High Cliff and recorded at Red's Boat Landing, Juno Graf, route 1, Chilton, recorded the heaviest fish taken the week ending June 7. His fish was caught off Stockbridge and recorded at Mark Keuler's Bar.

Both men received five "pike bucks" redeemable at any business holding a membership in the C. of C.

Kimberly's Baseball Program Will be Organized Monday

KIMBERLY — Boys planning to participate in the summer recreation department - sponsored baseball program are to report to the main athletic field at 1:30 p.m. Monday, according to Gil Frank, recreation director.

Youngsters will be divided into age groups after which a 1-week period of instructions will be held under the direction of James Nirschl, high school baseball coach. Instructions are designed to teach all youngsters baseball fundamentals and better prepare them for league play.

Films are to be shown on fundamentals besides regular drills. After the instruction, Nirschl will have an idea of capabilities of various boys and organize teams on various age levels. He will work with Frank in assigning players to achieve balanced teams.

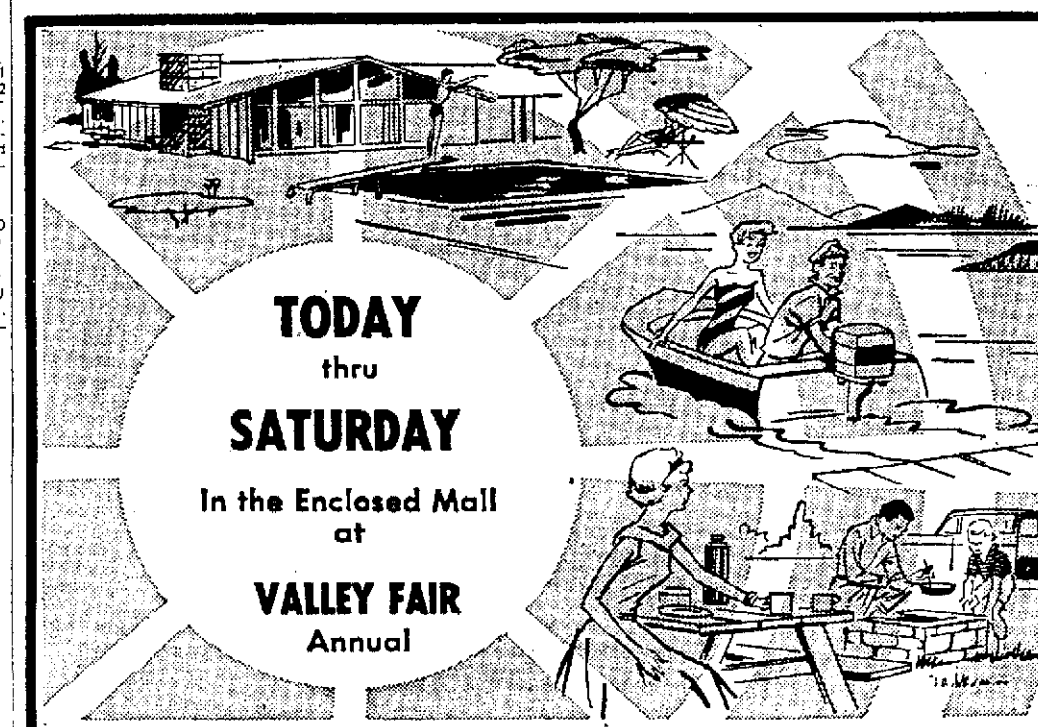

Every effort will be made to keep teams equal in talent to insure closer and more interesting games, noted Frank. In other years when a team lost consistently, players seemed to lose interest and often insufficient players were on hand to hold a game.

With the reorganization of the school district, boys from Kimberly, Combined Locks, Darboy and rural areas are eligible to compete in Kimberly leagues, said the director.

State Unit Files Highway Suit

Commission Asks $14,112 Recovery From Cement Loss

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The Wisconsin State Highway Commission Wednesday filed action in the Dane County Circuit Court to recover funds from two northeastern Wisconsin highway contractors for allegedly failing to meet specifications in supplying the amount of cement specified for a State 57 project in Sheboygan County two years ago.

The action was brought against Harry Boulanger and J. C. Boulanger, doing business as the Boulanger Construction Co. of Casco, and its bonding company, Ward Schuette, of the Schuette Co., Manitowish and its bonding company.

The state claims that the Boulanger Co., as the principal contractor, and the Schuette Co. as the paving contractor on a sub-contract, failed to deliver 3,600 barrels of cement that the specifications in their construction contracts required.

Asks $14,112
The highway commission asked for the recovery of $14,112 from each of the defendants who have 20 days in which to file an answer in the court of Circuit Judge Richard W. Bardwell.

State officials said today that such actions against contractors are rare. Highway contract supervision in Wisconsin is repeated by rigorous. A member of the state attorney general's staff, which represents the highway department, said he could not recall a similar case.

The entire contract for six miles of State 57 paving was for about $853,000, the complaint filed today said.

The complaint was signed by the three members of the State Highway Commission headed by Harvey Grasse, Ellison Bay

Programs Start Monday

Appleton Municipal Playground Opening

Summer's just around the corner — Appleton's 14 municipal playgrounds open for the season at 9:30 a. m. Monday.

Sponsored by the city recreation department, the play program will be under the supervision of Lawrence Witzke.

Most play centers, except Edison School, City Park and Morgan School (the latter for handicapped youngsters) will be open and have supervisors on duty Monday through Thursday from 9:30 a. m. to noon, 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. and 6:30 p. m. to 8 p. m.

On Fridays playgrounds will be closed at 3 p. m. so that leaders can attend staff meetings.

Assignments of leaders were announced today with Linda Langley in charge of the morning program at Morgan School.

City Park playground will be open mornings and Edison School in the afternoons with Nea Nissen and Ted Weiss in charge.

Other playground locations and assigned leaders:

Erb Park — Fred Jungers, Sandra Reim and Linda Langley
Foster School — Mary Lu Roemer and Harry Nelezen
Richmond School — Deanne Kurtz and Andy Nelson
St. Pius School — Patti Wink and Dick Stehr
Pierce Park — Peter Ryerson and Judy Jenkins

James Zimmerman Heads Committee On Human Rights

James Zimmerman, an Appleton High School senior, has been named chairman of a new human rights committee to be organized by the Wisconsin Youth Committee.

Zimmerman, a member of the state youth committee, was appointed to the new post by its executive board and will be in charge of organizing the new human rights group.

Zimmerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Zimmerman, 1124 E. Byrd St., is the outgoing president of the Appleton Youth Council.

The human rights committee will be made up of about 15 representatives of statewide youth organizations and three members of the Wisconsin Youth Committee, serving for two-year rotating terms. Its activities will include educational programs, preparation of literature on the topic and planning of programs for district and state youth conferences.

The Governor's Commission on Human Rights will serve as a con-

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

YES ☐ NO ☐

You probably can't predict all of them. The questions youngsters ask their parents depend upon many things - the child's age, the parents' attitudes, the emotional climate of the home, the situations that stimulate inquiry, and the child's own immediate readiness and interest. One mother reports her 14-year-old son's reaction is "Girls - ugh!" Her 12-year-old son wants to know "Can I go steady?" And her 8-year-old girl wants to know, "May I accept a ring?"

Is right-handedness "natural" for most people? Yes - No -

Yes, but largely because it has been learned. Studies show that about one out of 10 people are so strongly left-handed that they remain so, despite some rather real disadvantages. Presumably the same proportion would be right-handed, regardless of how they were trained. This means that probably 8 out of 10 could be made right-handed if they have been taught to be.

How do you explain pregnancy to a child? How do you satisfy a child's curiosity when he says, "Mommy, why are you getting so fat?" The solution is simple: Send for "How to Tell Your Child About Sex." Written in easy-to-read, everyday language, this booklet is a must for every "expecting" family. It's yours for 25 cents and your name and address, sent to "Let's Explore Your Mind," in care of this newspaper.

Chart the 'Big Dipper' By Tracing Its Positions

BY CAPPY DICK

An interesting space-age experiment any boy or girl can conduct is today's fun-project which calls for charting the position of the Big Dipper from month-to-month.

You will need a window that faces north and from which you can see the sky. If your house doesn't have such a window, perhaps the home of a young friend nearby has one and you can ask him to join you in this project.

You will need a sheet of clear plastic cut to the exact size of the top pane of that window (Figure 1). At the stationery or office supply store buy a china-marking pencil with which to draw on the plastic.

Draw Position

When nightfall comes and the Big Dipper is visible, place the sheet of plastic against the top pane and with the china marker draw the position of the constellation, spotting each star and, if you wish, making a dotted line from one star to the other. Make a note of the date on which you drew this chart.

Put the plastic sheet away until one month has passed, then do the same thing, charting the new position of the Big Dipper. You may be surprised to discover how much that position has changed during the month. Chart the constellation each month on the same day, until twelve months have passed. You will then have a record of the Big Dipper's position throughout the year. The positions vary greatly during a year's time. In Figure 2, for example, the constellation's position in spring is shown as well as its position in the autumn.

Fox Cities Play Role In U. S. Art Renaissance

Interest May be Budding, but Many Activities in Area Serve as Proof

BY JINGO

The renaissance in the arts of all kinds and their appreciation is as apparent in the Fox Cities as in any other area of the nation. The forthcoming community theater season and the round of art and craft shows on the calendar are proof enough, though there is more.

Critics, philosophers, sociologists and company have written reams on the reasons for this renaissance, citing such things as a desire to reach back to individual creativity as a revolt against our machine age.

In fact they write many things often leading into deep water, but after they are through there remains a doubt that they've answered the question. Like any revolt, "the reaching back to individual" etc. needs money — lots of it — and the individual support, though plentiful, isn't entirely enough to turn a revolution into a renaissance in full blossom.

By some standards the Fox Cities renaissance is merely a bud. However, throughout the nation it is producing exotic blooms; to wit, 70 cities in 35 states have cultural centers planned or in work which include new concert auditoriums for 30 cities, new museums for 34 cities and new theaters in 28 cities. There are now 1,200 symphony orchestras in the U.S. ringing up an attendance of 11 million annually.

Opera Companies
In addition there are 700 opera companies and over 250 educational FM radio and TV stations. That represents art with a great big dollar sign and there must be more than just a revolt culturally underdeveloped and it behind all of this. Big money means big business and that serves as the real key to the success of the renaissance throughout the nation. Currently the biggest drive is the National Cultural Center in Washington, D.C., tagged with a $30 million price and harnessing with a Congressional deadline. On are made of.

the committee raising this price are such giants as TWA, A.T.&T., the Chrysler Corp., General Tire and Rubber Co., the Norfolk and Western Railway, Monsanto Chemical Co. and Gulf Oil Corp. It's big business that's active in those 70 cities putting up cultural centers as well. The National Association of Manufacturers represents that key personnel on every rung of the ladder in industry does not wish to live or raise families in culturally underdeveloped areas; hence, community cultural activities are very influential in holding old and attracting new business enterprises. And recognizing that it is part of their responsibility both to their companies and to their active support to the arts.

Support in Fox Cities

The arts receive this kind of support in the Fox Cities. It wasn't completely individual support that brought the Kansas City Symphony here last season nor will the individual have the entire burden in bringing the St. Louis Symphony to Menasha next season.

Our big business recognizes that the area is far from being culturally underdeveloped and it must follow that whenever our own arts renaissance starts to appear as the real key to the success of the renaissance throughout the nation. If the NAM is right in its return, that cultural center for the Washington, D.C., should take on some-

are made of.

'Lucy Show' Based on Funny Real Life Story

Author Feels Odd Seeing Experiences Unfold on Television

NEW YORK (AP)—On Monday nights, a dark-haired, dark-eyed divorcee named Irene Kampen and her blonde 17-year-old daughter, Christine, turn their television set on to CBS and for half an hour "have very odd feelings."

"It's our lives we're seeing," explained Mrs. Kampen. "They've changed the specific incidents, but the characters are recognizable and so are the situations."

Mrs. Kampen, a novelist and short story writer, is the author of a funny nonfiction book, "Life Without George," published two years ago. Now it is the basis of "The Lucy Show."

Desi Arnaz had been looking for a suitable vehicle for Lucille Ball for three years before he ran across the book in which Mrs. Kampen described her experiences as a divorcee.

Changes Made
For television, of course, many changes had to be made. Brunette Irene Kampen, divorcee, became red-haired Lucy Carmichael, widow, and her blonde daughter, Christine, became a son, Jerry. Mrs. Kampen's low divorcee who—with son Eric shared the Kampen home and adventures is named Evelyn. She, instead of Ridgefield and became Vivian Bagley — played Danbury, they call the towns by Vivian Vance — whose son is Ridgebury and Danfield named Sherman.

The two Kampen cats were abolished. Cats are untrainable and impossible to use in a show filmed before a live audience as is "The Lucy Show." Added in their place, was a neighbor's dog. But they kept — at least during the past season — Harry, the handy bachelor air line pilot, for a neighbor.

Mrs. Kampen is a former newspaper reporter who wrote the book — her first — to indicate that all divorcees are not sleek sophisticated dames interested in other women's husbands.

She enjoys a nice, one-way correspondence with the program. A hefty check arrives regularly and will continue to arrive as long as the series continues to be shown, even into reruns.

"It's a lovely, painless way to make money," said the writer happily.

"The most interesting part of watching the show is seeing how the writers have used the book as a springboard and turned real situations into ones specially tar-

'Boom Town' Girl Had to be Armed Operator

DRUMRIGHT, Okla. (AP)—Telephone operators in early Oklahoma oil boom towns were hardy types, according to an old memo uncovered by Dale Olsen of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.'s Tulsa office.

The report, submitted by the late L. J. Bullis, then a telephone company superintendent, after a visit to Drumright in the brawling boom days of 1912, said:

"I do not know the name of the operator who was handling the business in Drumright, but I do know that she had a .45 caliber revolver lying on her key-shelf in plain sight. I asked her if she knew how to use it and she said she did. I also asked her why she had the gun and she said:

"If they see it they probably will not try to hold me up... and if they attempt to walk out without paying for long distance calls, they come back a little quicker when I speak to them."

lured to Lucy's and Vivian's talents," she said.

"For instance, I wrote about a time when the fuses blew and neither Evelyn nor I knew where the fuse box was or how to change them. When that ap- peared in the show, it was the Irene Kampen, divorcee, became television antenna that broke, and red-haired Lucy Carmichael, wid- it put Lucy and Vivian up on the roof of the house.

Waupaca Schools May Lose $65,000

Superintendent Considers Action After Aid Reduction

WAUPACA — The Madison deadlock over the state budget and taxes may cost the Waupaca School District a loss in state aids amounting to $65,000, George Hendrickson, superintendent of schools, advised the board of education Tuesday night.

Hendrickson said some schools are considering a reduction of services. He said kindergarten, vocational subjects, band and vocal music may be dropped by some school districts to curtail spending.

"This would mean schools would go back to the bare reading and writing subjects," he told the board. Hendrickson made no predictions of what may have to be cut from the school district's budget if the aids are reduced.

Mrs. Ward Fomstad, president of the board, advised the members to write letters to state senators and assemblymen urging them to break the deadlock. The possibility of a combined letter from the school board was tabled in favor of individual letters.

A representative from a Milwaukee firm spoke to the board on the values of having a language laboratory in the school system. The apparatus would cost about $7,000 of which about $3,500 would be returned to the school through the National Defense Education Act, if the purchase is approved by the N.D.E.A.

Members of the board agreed the machine would be beneficial to students and adults, but tabled the question when members started to discuss the possibility of the district losing some of its state aids.

Clarence Riddle, high school principal, said the language laboratory would have to be operated by teachers schooled in foreign languages. The producers of the sound system device would instruct teachers on the operation of the equipment, he said.

Mrs. Fomstad suggested a program starting in the seventh and eighth grades and extending two years into high school, offering students four years of language studies.

Meal Prices Increased
The price of meals prepared through the hot-lunch program may be increased next year, the board learned from Hendrickson.

Hendrickson said the school district will lose about two or three cents per meal when the books are closed this year.

Hendrickson said a complete report will be presented at the next meeting. He indicated, however, the meals are costing more because of increased costs of foods and because more meals are being transported out of the central kitchen to other schools in the district.

The board voted to buy a vision tester for $250 for the use in the school district. Dr. Stanley Langdon, an optometrist and member of the board, said specialists will be called in to give students additional examinations if visual problems are indicated through the screening program.

Dr. Langdon said the screening program is recommended for students in the second, fourth, seventh and ninth grades. The visual tests also will be given pupils in other grades when there is evidence they may have sight problems.

Other Action
The board also voted to buy 100 or more tablet arm chairs, 30 art tables and chairs, a copy machine for the office and new sinks for the kitchens in the Sheridan and Lind Center Schools. Money will be allocated in the new budget for the equipment.

Hendrickson told the board two additional classrooms will be opened when schools open in the fall.

The board scheduled a special meeting next Tuesday to study and set up a pay schedule for non-professional workers hired by the school district. Hendrickson said some of the janitors are earning $275 per month.

Raymond Martin, a member of the board, presented the first draft on the school board's set of policies concerning the membership, meetings and organization of the board.

Ordination Rites Were held Sunday at Christus Lutheran Church, Clintonville, for the Rev. Leon Lester Knitt. The participating clergy included, left to right, the Rev. E. C. Stubenvoll, pastor emeritus of Christus, liturgist; the Rev. Donald Zelle, pastor of Zion Lutheran Church, Shawano, lector; the Rev. Carl R. Knitt, pastor of Redeemer Lutheran Church, Plymouth, or-inator for his brother; and the Rev. Ralph W. Hanusa, Christus pastor, preacher. The Rev. Mr. Knitt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Knitt, route 1, Bear Creek. He has accepted a call to serve as pastor of St. Matthew Lutheran Church, Brenham, Tex., and will assume his duties there July 1. (Laib Photo)

Patrolman Won't Get Special Pay

CHILTON — Calumet County patrolman Irvan Vice, who was injured while attempting to subdue a brawling dance hall patron, will receive no special salary compensation for the working time he lost while convalescing, the Calumet County Board ruled Tuesday.

Herman Greve, Hilbert, a member of the sheriff's committee, asked for a ruling on the question. He asked if a policeman, because of the nature of his work, could draw full pay if injured on the job. Vice, who was kicked, bitten and slugged May 11, did not want to lose sick leave time while convalescing from the injuries, Greve said. He was drawing workmen's compensation which amounts to 70 to 75 per cent of his normal salary because of the "on the job" nature of the injuries.

The board ruled that a policeman had his choice. He could either draw full pay under sick leave but the lost time would be charged to the annual 30 day sick leave or he could elect to use workmen's compensation and preserve his sick leave.

"The employer provides compensation and sick leave. How much further can we go?" Wilmer Struebing, Brillion, said.

Two Injured In 3-Car Crash

U. S. 10 Head-on Near Fremont Causes $650 Damage

WAUPACA — Two people were injured about 5:50 p.m. last Thursday in a three-car accident on U.S. 10, 1 1/2 miles west of Fremont, county police reported.

Leo J. Mikell, 68, Chicago, driver of one of the cars, suffered a swollen right arm and Anton J. Miller, 56, route 2, Weyauwega, driver of another car, suffered facial bruises.

A car driven by Gustave C. Spiegelberg, 77, route 1, Fremont, was going east and passing another car when he collided almost head-on with Mikell's car, which was going west. Police said the Miller car was unable to stop and struck the rear of the Mikell car. Damages were estimated at $650.

Damages were estimated at $700 about 5:30 p.m. Sunday in a two-car accident on Whispering Pines Road in the Chain O'Lakes area. A car operated by James E. Zemlock, 16, 646 Chestnut St., Neenah, ran into the rear of a car driven by Larry R. Thorpe, 16, route 1, New London. Both were going east. Thorpe told police he was stopping for a car in front of him which also was stopping.

The sheriff's department reported two cars were damaged about 3:20 p.m. Saturday on State 54, six miles west of Waupaca. Damages were estimated at $600. Paul G. Friedrich, 21, Lake Tomahawk, was going west and pulled over into the left lane of traffic to back into a driveway as Evelyn M. Lewandowski, Wausau, was attempting to pass the Friedrich car.

Gospel Team to Visit Chilton Alliance Church

CHILTON—An unusual musical-gospel team from the St. Paul Bible College will visit the Grand Street Alliance Church here at 7:30 p.m. Friday, according to the Rev. Fred Moore, pastor.

The group is composed of two students and members of the faculty and school staff. Norman Ford, a student, will speak and the musical program will consist of quartet and trio arrangements as well as instrumental solos. The program will be highlighted by a missions presentation.

Winner Goes to District

40 Calumet County 4-H Youths Are Entered in 1963 Demonstration Test

CHILTON — A total of 40 Calumet County 4-H youths will participate in the 1963 demonstration contest Monday at Chilton High School, according to Charles Nikolai, club agent.

The top demonstrator in the dairy project will compete in the district dairy judging contest at the fairgrounds here June 26. In all other divisions, the top demonstrator will be invited to attend the state fair Aug. 16, 17 and 18 for competition there.

Junior division girls, aged 10 to 14, include Carolyn Geiser, Busy Beavers; Patricia Weber, Betsy Brill, and Marilyn Steiner, Young Americans; Mary Beth Brantmeier and Carla Jahnke, Sherwood Wide Awake; Jane Goeldi, Chilton Tip Top; Catherine Marx and Barbara Marx, Darbov Ever Alert; Nadine Gasch, Working Woodchucks; Donna Schaefer and Gail Goesser, Rural Rockets; Debora Koerth, Farm and Home; Joanne Daun, Charlesburg Stars; Ritalyn Krueger, Carol Schaefer, and Cherie Ott, Friendly Valley, and Cynthia Stanelle, Forest Ever Ready.

Mrs. Richard Werblow will judge the division. She also will evaluate the junior dairy foods demonstrations. Entered are Susanne Thiel, Sherwood Wide Awake; Arlys Reif, Busy Beavers; Connie Wink, Forest Ever Ready; Paul Buboltz, Farm and Home, and Sharon Danes, Young Americans.

Senior Demonstrators
Senior girl demonstrators include Nancy Peik, Irish Road; Margie Brantmeier, Sherwood Wide Awake; Sandy Gasch, Working Woodchucks, and Debbie Brill, Young Americans.

The only senior girls team demonstration will be on the art of make-up by Kathy Brantmeier and Pamela Kess, Sherwood Wide-Awake.

Junior boys demonstrating include John Schaefer, Rural Rockets; Gary Lee Koerth, Farm and Home; James Coffeen, Chilton Tip Top; James Marx, Darbov Ever Alert, and Richard Vorpahl, Young Americans.

Charles and Mike Marx, Darbov Ever Alert, are the lone boys team.

Brillion Sets Bus Driver Pay

Board of Education Releases Teacher From '63 Contract

BRILLION — The board of education conducted its annual review of school bus drivers' salaries during its meeting Monday night. A $6 daily payment was set for contract drivers.

Mrs. Lillian Knoespel was released from her 1963-64 contract with a commendation for "very fine service" at the Forest Junction School.

Gaylord Unbehaun, superintendent of Brillion public schools, was at the meeting to sign a contract for the coming school year.

The board approved bills and a payroll totalling $27,138.83 and discussed budgetary matters. The budget will be discussed in more detail at next Monday's meeting.

Board Election
John Haun, clerk of the Brillion Public School, announced that persons seeking election to the board of education must file their intentions with the clerk by 5 p.m., July 1. Forms can be obtained from board members and must be filed with Haun. The order of placing names on the ballot will be determined by drawing lots at 2 p.m. on Tuesday, July 2.

The term of Roy Fischer expires this year and will be the only term up for election. The term of office is for three years.

Voting will be between 1 and 3 p.m. on July 22. People living in the former Forest Junction and Webster School districts. The rest of the district will vote in the Brillion High School gym.

Surprise Guilty of Reckless Conduct In Death of Son

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Gary P. Surprise, 22, route 1, Kaukauna, was found guilty late Wednesday of reckless conduct in the death of his son, four-month-old Scott, by a 12-man jury which heard two days of testimony in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

While Surprise's wife, Bonnie, 19, who has broken down twice during the hearing, wept softly behind him, Surprise stood before County Judge Gustave Keller after the jury's verdict and heard Judge Keller order a pre-sentence investigation and set sentencing for June 28. Surprise's $5,000 bond was continued and he was allowed to leave the courtroom.

The jury of seven women and five men deliberated about one hour and 15 minutes before arriving at a unanimous decision about 5:15 p.m. Testimony closed at 2:30 p.m. and summaries by Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer and defense counsel John Wylie and jury instructions took until 4 p.m.

Motion Denied
A motion by Wylie not to allow transcripts, a signed statement by Surprise taken by Sheriff I. L. Jack Zuelzke, colored photographs showing the dead baby's bruises and colored slides to be taken into the jury room was denied in part by Judge Keller.

Judge Keller ruled the inquest transcript which contained some information not relative to the trial be excluded from the jury room. The other exhibits were taken by the jury for deliberation.

Wylie said today he was not considering an appeal at the present time. An appeal on the conviction would have to be made to State Supreme Court.

Surprise took the stand early Wednesday and related events on the night of Feb. 14 and the morning of Feb. 15 when his child died. He told the court he was babysitting with his child Feb. 14 when the baby became severely ill. He said the baby's breathing became labored and he became scared. His wife, Bonnie, was not at home when the child became sick, Surprise said, but came home about 11 p.m.

Parents Prayed
The child was taken to the Kaukauna Community Hospital, examined by a doctor and admitted for treatment. The parents returned home where, according to testimony, they prayed and said the rosary.

The following day, Surprise said, he was asked to come to the hospital where he was told his child had died of head injuries. He was taken to the autopsy room where he saw the baby's body. He said at that time he noted bruises on the baby's face, but they did not appear at that time to be as big or pronounced as bruises shown on colored slides and photographs submitted as state exhibits.

Surprise testified that he was confused, tired and edgy when he made a statement in Schaefer's office following an inquest Feb. 15. He said he "skipped over" the statement and did not read the entire 20 pages when he was asked to put his signature on the paper 12 days later. He said he thought that by signing the statement, "the matter would be taken care of."

Loving Father
Testimony from three other witnesses, Mrs. Virginia Braun, 527 W. Sixth St., Surprise's mother-in-law; Mrs. Judy Leach, route 4, Appleton, his sister, and Mrs. Maria Oratobec, route 1, Kaukauna, the Surprise's neighbors, indicated they had observed Surprise care for the child and had never seen him harm Scott. They all testified they were aware that the child bruised easily. All agreed in testimony that Surprise appeared to be a loving father.

Mrs. Oratobec was present in the Surprise home just before the child was taken to the hospital Feb. 14. She said she saw the child in a semi-conscious condition and attempted to arouse him by patting his cheek and waving his arms.

She said she had cared for him earlier in the day and the child appeared then to be "unusually quiet" and did not play or laugh as he usually did. She said she saw bruises on the baby's face when she saw the child Feb. 14, but had seen similar bruises on the child off and on for about one month previous.

60 Clergymen Attend Priest's Jubilee Mass

Msgr. Schneider Celebrates 25th Year of Ordination

CHILTON — More than 60 members of the clergy, including the Green Bay Diocesan hierarchy, attended the silver jubilee mass of the Very Rev. Msgr. Alfred Schneider at St. Mary Church here Wednesday.

The Most Rev. Stanislaus V. Bona, bishop of Green Bay, presided at the 11 a. m. mass. He was attended by the Most Rev. John H. Grellinger, Oshkosh, auxiliary bishop of Green Bay.

Also attending the ceremony for the Chilton native who is continental director of Catholic Relief Services in South America were Abbot S. M. Killen, O Praem, St. Norbert College, DePere; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph Marx and the Ret. Rev. Msgr. C. A. Ropella, vicar general and chancellor, respectively, of the Green Bay Diocese.

Msgr. Schneider was celebrant of his mass of thanksgiving. His newly ordained nephew, the Rev. Gilbert Schneider, served him as deacon, and the Rev. William Rickert, diocesan Catholic Rural Life director, was subdeacon. Father Rickert is pastor of Sacred Heart Church, Spruce.

The Rev. Leo Ott, pastor of St. Wendell Church, Cleveland, and the Rev. Duane Dionne, assistant pastor at St. Mary Church, Chilton, were masters of ceremonies. A cousin, the Rt. Rev. Peter Salm, St. Mary Church, Kaukauna, preached the sermon.

Dinner Held
All of the attending clergy and invited guests attended a dinner in the church hall after the mass. The Rev. Henry Schmitt, pastor of St. Mary Church, Chilton, served as toastmaster.

Legion Season Starts

Clintonville Gets All Digit Dialing

Change Being Made to Conform To National Telephone Pattern

CLINTONVILLE — A seven tary, said The change is being, numeral telephone number system made to conform to the proposed was initiated by Urban Telephone nationwide pattern of telephone Corp. Wednesday when business and residential subscribers received their new directories.

All seven numerals of the telephone number must be given to the operator when placing long distance calls. It is not necessary to dial the first two numbers on local calls.

Clintonville subscribers must dial all seven numerals of the Bear Creek directory number to get Bear Creek exchange subscribers, and Bear Creek subscribers must dial the same for a Clintonville directory number to get Clintonville subscribers.

Information about the new directory discloses that the number of business and residential subscribers is about the same as last year with 3,108.

Krueger is again the name with the most listings with 28 and tied for second are Johnson and Miller with 16 listings each. In the Bear Creek exchange, Young leads with 15 and Flanagan is second with 11 listings.

Gervase Hepner served as master of ceremonies and William Rehner read the class prophecy. Mrs. John Van Schiaethorn, the former Miss Audrey Thern, a class adviser, and her husband were guests of the class. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Drone were unable to attend. Mr. Drone was the other adviser.

Prizes awarded went to Darlene Lemke, Santa Monica, Calif., for traveling the greatest distance to attend the event; Mrs. Eugene Miller, longest married; Jerome Criter, most recently married; Leonard Davis, parent of the youngest child, and Jerome Freund, largest family.

Special prizes went to Larry Mertens, Dean Pingel and Mrs. Marvin Lisowe.

Arrangements for the event were completed by a committee comprised of Mrs. Kenneth Daun, chairman; Mrs. Eugene Mueller, Mrs. Don Parsons, Mrs. Roger Nelson, Mrs. Gordon Flaherty, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Pajal Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Gervase Hepner.

The class voted to stage another reunion in five years. Mrs. Daun appointed Rodney Haese, Jerome Criter, Robert Sturm, Earl Krueger, Anthony Groeschel, Mrs. Gordon Flaherty, Mrs. Leo Keuler, Mrs. Dominic Gentile and Mrs. Eugene Krueger to a committee in charge of arrangements.

Registration to Begin For Clintonville's Recreation Program

CLINTONVILLE — The Clintonville summer recreation program begins Monday with registration from 1 to 5 p.m. and Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. The first 100 children registering will receive a free bag of candy donated by the Clintonville Lions Club.

Boys and girls ages seven through 14 are eligible for this program. A 50 cent fee is being charged for those taking WIAA insurance. Playground hours are 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Morning baseball games have been planned to eliminate any conflicts with swimming lessons.

The directors of the program, Robert McMahon and Chloe Hughes, report the program is not designed primarily for ball playing. There will be a variety of recreational activities for all age groups and abilities. Handicraft is to be an important part of the program along with tennis, miniature golf, hiking, shuffleboard, ping pong, and tournaments of various kinds.

40 Participate In Caravan on PTA Know How

Wisconsin Parents, Teachers Congress Held in Waupaca

WAUPACA — About 40 people attended an instruction caravan of the Wisconsin Congress of Parents and Teachers Wednesday at Riverside Grade School, under the sponsorship of the Waupaca Parent-Teachers Association.

Mrs. Harry Sicula, Green Bay, immediate past president of the state association; Mrs. Bernard Hinkleman, Green Bay, state secretary, and Mrs. L. D. Wright, Green Bay, state historian, were in charge of the discussions, along with Mrs. Franklin Newman, Wisconsin Rapids, Seventh District president.

It was a district meeting with members and officers from Clark, Marathon, Portage, Taylor, Waupaca, Waushara and Wood counties invited. Members attended from Waupaca, King, Wisconsin Rapids, Manawa, New London, Green Bay, Milwaukee, Iowa, Scandinavia, Ogdensburg, Oshkosh and Woodside.

The theme of the caravan was "PTA Know How and Leadership Training." Part of the morning session was devoted to "Group 66 Discussions" practices which consist of six people meeting for six minutes to discuss a phase of PTA endeavor and work out a recommendation.

The speakers covered a wide area of PTA activity, including the use of materials furnished locally from the state organization. George Hendrickson, superintendent of schools, welcomed the visitors and the Rev. James Saunders, pastor of the First Methodist Church, led the invocation.

Mrs. John Drayna and Raymond Martin were in charge of local arrangements for the institute. Mrs. Ned Bailey, Mrs. Robert Stange and Mrs. Gerald Almond were in charge of registration. Mrs. Norman Niemuth was in charge of hospitality and Mrs. Arthur Marotz, welcome. Mrs. Howard Manney, Mrs. Stanley Sailer, Mrs. Kenneth Hama and Mrs. Otto Ruch were on the luncheon committee.

The Rev. B. H. Marcell, Wisconsin Rapids, led the invocation for the luncheon.

Weyauwega Garden Club Plans Third Annual Flower Show

WEYAUWEGA — Roses, peonies and iris will highlight the Weyauwega Garden Club's third flower show. "Flowers Pose for Portraits," Friday at Gerold's Opera House. The show will be held from 1:30 to 9 p.m. in the theater basement.

The recent high winds have damaged some of the specimen blooms planned for entry, but club members will have a variety of exhibits in the artistic, house plant and conservation classes as well as the specimen blooms.

Juniors, under 16 years of age, are also eligible for the show. Mrs. Fred Zeichert and Mrs. Rolland Paschke are co-chairmen for the show.

Rain Halts Play in BABA Northern Loop

Marion, Leopolis, Clintonville and Pulaski Winners

MARION — Rain caused postponement Sunday of all baseball games in the northern division of the Badger Amateur Baseball Association.

Caroline at Almon was rained out in the east-west division, but four games were played. Marion edged Bowler, 8-7; Leopolis nipped Cecil, 3-2, and Clintonville beat Shawano, 4-1.

Jim Hedtke was the winning pitcher for Marion, with Marc Pecha, in relief of Stan Schultz, taking the loss for Bowler. Marion's winning run, which came in the ninth inning, was unearned. Pacing the Marion hitting attack were Pat Rohenhagen with three hits and Gordon Kopitzke with two home runs. Hitting stars for Bowler were Jay Boldig and Steve Reinke with three hits apiece.

Big First Inning
A 10-run first inning carried Leopolis to its one-sided victory over Tilleda. Al Steinke hurled the first three innings for the winners and was followed to the mound by George Cerveng and Bert Thiel. Larry Waters, who was relieved by Louie Techtnerman, took the loss for Tilleda.

Jim LaRoche allowed eight hits while pitching the distance for Pulaski. Roger Koehles, the loser, allowed seven hits. Pulaski broke a 2-2 tie in the ninth inning on two hits and a throwing error. Kurt Marshek struck out 12 and allowed six hits while pitching Clintonville's decision.

Poor Turnout At New London Playgrounds

NEW LONDON — Turnout for baseball and softball activities at the Hatten Park playground program has been very poor according to Don Rex, playground director.

Rex said only 38 boys have signed up to play in the league. Not enough boys for two teams are available to play softball and only three teams can be organized to play baseball. It may be necessary, he said, to switch the boys from softball to baseball so all boys desiring to play can do so.

Games are played mornings, from 9 to 11 a.m. Any boys wanting to join the league can still register any morning at the park bathhouse.

Demonstration Set for Chilton Churchwomen

CHILTON — A frozen foods demonstration will highlight the meeting June 18 of the Joan of Arc Circle, Daughters of Isabella, at 8 p.m. in St. Mary Church hall. Break-in Reported at Golf Course

COMBINED LOCKS — Lt. Jack Frenz of the Outagamie County sheriff's department, and Ernest Danielson, Combined Locks chief of police, are investigating a break-in which occurred some time Monday night at the pro shop at Fox Valley Golf Club.

Entry was gained by cutting a screen and smashing the glass in a back window.

Lou Glaser, pro, said a preliminary check showed nothing missing, but golf balls and other equipment were taken from a showcase and scattered around the floor. Golf clubs were taken from wall racks and strewn about. Ash trays were tipped over, record files were rifled and materials were scattered.

A small metal tool box was taken from the building, opened on No. 9 green near the pro shop, and tools used to dig holes and cut into the green.

School Paper Names Staff

CHILTON — Carroll Walker, an active member of the Hillcrest staff for the past two years, has been named the Chilton High School newspaper's new editor.

She will be in charge of the publication during the 1963-64 school term. In addition to her editorial duties, Miss Walker will serve as an artist. She replaces Nancy Peik.

Rosie Karls will be in charge of assembly and distribution.

Chilton Firemen Put Out Blaze

CHILTON — Twelve Chilton firemen spent two hours fighting a two-mile stretch of grass and brush fire along the Milwaukee Road railroad tracks north of here Wednesday.

Firemen were called about 12:30 p.m., according to Fire Chief Norbert Sturm. They responded with two tank truck units.

Sturm said the blaze apparently was touched off by exhaust sparks from a locomotive.

None Injured In Crash at Combined Locks

COMBINED LOCKS — A 1958 model car was demolished but the driver and passenger escaped injury about 10 p.m. Monday when the driver lost control on a curve on County Trunk Z, knocked down several guard rails and broke off a telephone pole, according to Ernest Danielson, chief of police.

The driver, Donald J. DeGoey, 19, route 4, Appleton, was ordered to appear in municipal justice court this afternoon to answer charges of failure to have his vehicle under control. Danielson said the car traveled 780 feet before striking the telephone pole, before the driver was able to stop.

Kiwanis Selling Flags at Three Downtown Sites

Fifty-star American flags, being sold by the Appleton Downtown Kiwanis Club, can be obtained at the Schlader Hardware Store, the Ford Rexall Drug Store and Conkey's Book Store.

Earlier, the flags also were available in the lobbies of two Appleton banks.

Those who want to buy flags and have them delivered to their homes before Saturday, Flag Day, can telephone RE 3-6295 and a Kiwanis member will deliver the flag without charge.

Birthday Party Nets Two Jail Sentences

Five Others Receive $50 Fines
On Disorderly Conduct Charges

Five persons were fined $50 and the rear of the Elmdale School on court costs each and two were sentenced to 30 days in the Outagamie County Jail Wednesday as a result of a birthday party broken up by Sheriff Calvin Spicer and county police Friday night.

Fined were William E. Lord, 20, 117 S. Badger Ave., Mrs. Margaret L. DeShaney, 24, 402 E. Lincoln St., Miss Darlene Thienhauck, 18, route 2, Black Creek, George Marquardt, 21, 1048 S. Outagamie St., and James Marquardt, 20, 4410 N. Richmond St., all of Appleton. All were charged with disorderly conduct.

Sentenced to jail terms were Victor Merkel, 21, Streamwood, Ill., and Mrs. Jeanette R. Elquist, 20, 1509 W. Lawrence St. County Judge Gustave Keller said they received jail sentences after they lied in court and testified they were married to each other. An investigation showed they were not.

Police Called
An eighth person, Mrs. Margaret Feavel, 22, 716 John St., of Menasha, will be arraigned in connection with the party after she is released from a hospital, where in the month of May, she was taken after she collapsed. Preceding the town board meeting over the weekend Sheriff Calvin Spicer said it was Mrs. Feavel's birthday that was being celebrated.

Arrests were made after county police received a tip that a drinking party was in progress at De Pere.

Legion Installs Officers, Agrees To Donate $500

MARION — New officers of American Legion Post 198 were installed and assumed their posts Monday evening at the Legion's meeting at city hall.

Officers include Henry Bowers, commander; Norman Helms, 1st vice commander; Melvin Schroeder, adjutant; and John Knitt, finance officer.

The Legion voted to contribute $500 toward a memorial park, which would be built across from the city hall. It was also voted to give $25 toward the cost of a Red Cross swimming instructor at the Marion pond.

4-H Youths Study Teaching Methods

HILBERT — "How to Teach" will be the theme of a meeting Thursday of Calumet County Junior 4-H leaders at Hilbert High School, according to Charles Nikolai, club agent.

Leaders will give demonstrations they have used in their local clubs and the spectators will be called on to offer suggestions for improvements. They will learn how others conduct their project training sessions and techniques and aids available which they may not have used in the past, Nikolai said.

The group's officers met a week ago to work out plans for camping, the junior leaders workshop, the country dairy queen contest, and the summer picnic.

Honor Banquet Planned in Iola

IOLA — A recognition banquet will be held at Our Savior Lutheran Church, at 7 p.m. Thursday, June 13.

Honored guests will be Sunday School and vacation school teachers, junior and senior choir members, ladies chorus members and officers.

Speaker for the evening is Rev. Aldon Lerohl, Rosholt. Special music will include a solo by Sandy Schaffer, Waupaca, duet by Mrs. Charles Blank and Pastor K. L. Roufs, and a trio consisting of Connie Leer, Louise Roufs and Janet Kolden.

Mrs. Floyd Morey is chairman of the dinner.

Divorce Granted At Waupaca

WAUPACA — Mrs. Myrtle Ida Meyer, Waupaca, was granted a divorce from William R. Meyer, 63, Fremont, in County Court by Judge Wendell McHenry.

Mrs. Meyer charged cruel and inhuman treatment. They were married May 10, 1922, in Manawa and were separated Oct. 3, 1961. No children are affected by the divorce.

Mrs. Meyer asked alimony but the request was denied. There was a property settlement.

Iola-Scandinavia School Board Accepts Work Bids

BIDS ACCEPTED BY IOLA 2-13 IOLA — Five bids on the summer maintenance and improvement program were accepted by the Iola-Scandinavia Board of Education Monday evening.

Bids accepted were from Baseman's Floor Sanding Service, Appleton, to sand and repair the multi-purpose room floor; Central Wisconsin Electric Cooperative for the purchase of two electric stoves for the Home Economics room; Earl Thomaner, to improve the storm windows at the Scandinavia Elementary School; Johnson Construction Co., Scandinavia, for sidewalk replacement and Richard G. Anderson, to install acoustical tile and lower the lights in the three music practice rooms.

Nick Michels was present to discuss methods to eliminate water and ice collection on the gym roof. Robert Crase, superintendent, announced that all teaching positions had been filled by qualified teachers. The resignation of Mary Lou Barto was accepted by the board.

Authorization was given Crase to set aside $2,500 in the music budget for new instruments and to have plans for the biology and Junior High science room approved by the state.

A special meeting will be held July 1 to examine the 1963-64 budget.

Other Action
Contracts will be offered to the present nonprofessional employees according to a suggestion made by the State Department of Public Instruction. The president and clerk were authorized to sign for the school board.

An adjustment was made granting bus drivers more pay for extra curricular bus driving and vacation and sick leave benefits were extended to include Mrs. Arvada Rasmussen who previously was not eligible for these benefits.

School board policy amendments were made on teacher's salary with deduction of a full day's pay when not on sick leave or vacation and substitute teachers will receive salaries based on yearly salary scale. Fulltime employees' vacation time was scheduled with two weeks up to 10 years service and one additional day for each year of employment up to 15 years when three weeks will be granted.

Crase reported that 500 Norway

Business Likes To Number Its New Products

Digits Applied to Goods From Whisky
To Soap, Perfume

BY SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service and the banks and the phone company are just Johnnies-come-lately to the numbers game. Businessmen have been playing it for more than a century. And many still favor a number when choosing a name for a new product.

The numbers game has worked fine for many of them. The digits have become household words. Customers have had little trouble remembering the numbers—every woman knows what you mean when you say Chanel No. 5. And some companies hold onto the number titles long after diversifying or expanding product lines—Heinz 57 Varieties once was an accurate tally but now the company makes some 300 products, without changing its slogan.

Generations grew up quite at home with 20-Mule Team Balm, just as one youngster today can tell a Boeing 707 from a DC1.

Become Digits
But many depositors still aren't reconciled to losing their names and becoming numbers at the bank. The IRS fast is herding all income tax payers into the same faceless category as it caters to the electronic computer. And the AT&T stoutly ignores all protests against its dropping exchange names for lengthy strings of digits that stand for paying customers.

The origin of some of the numbers that business has made brand names goes far back in history as well as far from the market place.

For example, we are told that in the 1820s a Mr. Brand was chef to Britain's King George IV. One day the gourmet monarch tasted a new sauce and said, "Brand, this is A-1." That was before the vogue for A-Okay. So when the chef set up a business for himself he called his concoction, "Brand's A-1 Steak Sauce," as it's still known.

When Napoleon occupied Cologne, his soldiers numbered houses as a billeting guide. The house of a Mulhens family drew 4711, and later the Mulhens developed a product they named 4711 eau de cologne.

Just 100 years ago, the story goes a band of Scotsmen gathered at the Sanderson distillery in Leith to choose between 100 containers of different Scotch formulas. After sampling the contents of each and every barrel those on their feet chose Vat 69. And the name still sticks.

Other beverages favor numbers—all the way from 7-Up and V-8 vegetable juice to 7-Crown whisky and 5-Star Hennessy.

A few of the many other brand names based on numbers are Three-in-One oil, 3-Day Deodorant, 6-12 insect repellent, Eterna 21, and 2500 Design, which is office furniture made by All Steel Equipment of Aurora, Ill.

And then there was a Faith 7—not a brand name but a capsule that Americans followed anxiously on its recent 22 orbits of the earth.

Kansas Man Pays Fine
